

Winds, Tide Take Severe Property Toll in Florida

Loss at St. Augustine and Jacksonville Set at Millions

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Dora smashed at St. Augustine and Jacksonville today, devastating a vast area with a 10-foot tide and 100-mile plus winds.

The massive storm, tormenting 100,000 square miles of land and sea, sent gales whistling all the way to South Carolina and battered Brunswick, Ga., with 65-mile gusts.

Streets Under Water

Unofficial estimates put damage so far in the tens of millions.

Water flowed hip deep in the ancient slave market square in the heart of this picturesque city of 15,000, the nation's oldest.

Giant old oaks that have weathered tempests through the centuries were uprooted. Most streets were inundated. Power was out.

In Jacksonville — a city of 250,000 with a modern, gleaming skyline — homes were unroofed, streets flooded, power lines, poles and trees tossed to the ground in a tangle.

More Trouble Ahead

Where tides did not reach to damage buildings, torrential rains lashed by the shrieking, moaning winds did. Hundreds of homes had wind-driven rain on their floors.

At 7 a.m., EST, Dora was centered about 30 miles southwest of downtown Jacksonville, moving erratically toward the west or west-northwest at seven miles an hour.

The Weather Bureau advised that more battering was to come.

Rains of 10 to 15 inches were predicted for the rest of northern Florida and southeastern Georgia, producing flooding in rivers and streams, some severe.

Hurricane warnings flew as far as Charleston, S.C., with gale warnings up to Myrtle Beach.

Payoff Charge In Baker Case Due for Probe

Parties Divided Over Group Which Will be in Charge

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate investigation of an alleged $35,000 political payoff by Matthew H. McCloskey, former ambassador and Democratic fund raiser, was in the making today in a revival of the stormy Bobby Baker case.

But Democrats and Republicans were divided over whether the probe should be conducted by the Senate Rules Committee or the Government Operations Committee.

A Senate vote late in the day was in prospect.

Democratic Aim

The Democratic leadership threw its weight behind a resolution to turn the job over to the Rules Committee, which Republicans have accused of whitewashing an investigation into Baker's money-making deals while he was secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., who leveled the payoff charge in a Senate speech last week, said he had "no confidence whatever" in the Rules Committee and offered a substitute resolution directing the Government Operations Committee to conduct the inquiry.

Fears Whitewash

Williams said an investigation by the Rules Committee, headed by Sen. B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., would result only in "another batch of whitewash."

Jordan has denied any whitewash of the Baker case and contended the Republicans wanted to prolong the investigation in hopes of making political capital for this year's election campaign.

U. S. Officer Is Slain in Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A U.S. Army officer advising a Vietnamese ranger battalion was killed today in a clash with a Viet Cong patrol only 15 miles south of Saigon.

U.S. officials said the rangers, about 400 strong, were moving through Long An Province on a routine operation when a Viet Cong unit of about 20 men opened fire, sniping and firing short machine-gun bursts.

The American and two Vietnamese were killed and seven other Vietnamese were wounded. One of the guerrillas was killed. The rest fled.

2 Shooting Incidents in Wisconsin After Tragedy At Bonduel Stockyards

BONDUEL, Wis. (AP) — The deaths of two National Farmers Organization (NFO) members under the wheels of a heavy truck and the cries of other demonstrators that the driver be lynched brought a call for a truce in the Wisconsin part of a campaign to withhold livestock from market.

But two shooting incidents involving livestock truckers were reported during the night. There were no injuries.

Gov. John Reynolds said Wednesday night that Oren Lee Staley, national NFO president, had ordered cancellation of all previously planned Wisconsin demonstrations pending a meeting in the governor's office Friday.

Reynolds said Staley has agreed to attend the meeting which was called "to discuss the manner and method by which the NFO can properly conduct its holding action and demonstrations."

2 Gunfire Attacks

A Lafayette County livestock trucker told authorities in Janesville that he was followed by two cars across one county on the way to market in Milwaukee late Wednesday night and then was fired on five times from the shoulder of a road two miles west of Orfordville, in south-central Wisconsin.

The Rock County sheriff's office said two rifle bullets penetrated the truck and a pig was hit. The driver, who was not identified, was escorted by police to Milwaukee.

Early today several shots were fired from a passing car in the vicinity of a home of another livestock trucker in Rubicon Township, in east-central Wisconsin.

The Dodge County sheriff's office said the bullets apparently did not strike anything.

Staley Calls Death Tragedy

In his statement at Madison announcing the conference, Reynolds referred to the deaths as "the senseless shedding of blood." He said "acts of violence will not be permitted within the state of Wisconsin" and "all the resources of the state will be used to insure this."

Staley said at NFO headquarters in Cornish, Iowa, Wednesday night that the deaths were "tragic." He added "They should serve as a symbol for greater effort on the part of farmers in an orderly and democratic manner."

Rezoning Cloture Failure Predicted

Senate Prepares to Vote On Proposal by Dirksen

WASHINGTON (AP) — A move to shut off debate in the Senate battle over the Supreme Court's legislative reapportionment decision appeared certain of defeat today.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and 16 other senators are trying to end debate on Dirksen's proposal to delay for at least a year federal court orders carrying out the high tribunal's ruling that both houses of state legislatures be apportioned on a population basis.

President Johnson, meanwhile, was reported backing a compromise that states it is the "sense of Congress" that legislative reapportionment be delayed. This would not have the force of Dirksen's proposal.

The controversy is one of the chief stumbling blocks to adjournment of Congress. Dirksen seeks to attach his proposal to the $3.3-billion foreign-aid authorization bill to prevent any possibility of a presidential veto.

The cloture vote — which requires two-thirds approval from those senators voting — is expected to fail short. It is aimed at a group of senators who have been trying to talk Dirksen's rider to death.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., a supporter of the cloture petition, predicted it would muster "over 50 votes and less than 60." Sixty-seven would be required to invoke cloture if all the 100 senators vote.

Dirksen's rider would delay for a year or more court-ordered reapportionment of state legislatures "in the absence of highly unusual circumstances."

While opponents of the rider appeared to have enough votes to defeat cloture, Dirksen said he is confident he can muster a majority to defeat any subsequent motion to table and thus kill his rider and clear the way for passage of the foreign-aid bill.

Johnson Set for Campaign Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson makes the first of his political trips of his campaign tonight, flying to Harrisburg, Pa., for a one-night stand.

The President, who will leave the White House by helicopter at sundown, will fly direct to Harrisburg, the Pennsylvania capital, to address Democrats at a $100-a-plate dinner.

Then, after a few good night handshakes, he will return to Washington.

Party leaders in Harrisburg predicted 6,000 diners would attend the event in the Farm Show Arena building. Tickets have been on sale for days but the White House did not acknowledge until Wednesday that the President would attend.

Johnson made his first trip of the campaign Monday, addressing the annual AFL-CIO Labor Day rally in Detroit.

2 Families Escape Into West Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — Two East Berlin couples and their 11 children escaped to West Berlin during the night hidden in a refrigerator truck beneath meat.

The children were drugged with sleeping pills to prevent them from making any noise while border guards were inspecting the truck.

Religious Issue Denied

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam's leading Buddhist publication accused Americans today of triggering the recent bloody clashes between Buddhists and Roman Catholics.

The publication, Hai Trieu Am, also indirectly accused the United States of manipulating the Saigon government to extend American influence in South Viet Nam.

Charges of American manipulation have been voiced privately by some government officials. Premier Nguyen Khanh was asked at a news conference Wednesday whether the U.S. Embassy had exerted any diplomatic pressure on his government during the recent crisis.

"Why don't you ask the embassy about that?" Khanh replied.

Hai Trieu Am particularly criticized American press coverage of recent developments in Viet Nam.

"Up to now," it said, "the U.S. press in particular has been talking about clashes between Catholics and Buddhists in Viet Nam. With the invention of such an idea, the plotters sit back and watch the two religions fight, waiting for an opportunity to act as self-serving arbitrators."

It cited a photograph showing

U. S. Jets Used For Protection Of Vietnamese

TAY NINH, South Viet Nam (AP) — Four U.S. Air Force jet fighters patrolled close to Cambodia's border today to protect a Vietnamese military operation against possible attack by Cambodian jets.

An American military source said he believed this was the first time U.S. jets have been involved in such an action in Viet Nam, though some went aloft Saturday at the request of the Vietnamese government when two Soviet-built planes of the Cambodian air force streaked across the border into Vietnamese airspace.

There was no contact either Saturday or today.

The government has charged Cambodian planes, patrol boats and artillery have been supporting the Communist Viet Cong in border operations.

The military source said that if Cambodian fighters had appeared and attacked the Vietnamese forces, the U.S. jets doubtless would have been ordered to destroy the intruders.

Defense Department Official Is Fired

WASHINGTON (AP) — A veteran Defense Department official has been fired after an investigation of possible irregularities in handling of certain administrative funds, the Pentagon announced Wednesday night.

The announcement said William H. Godel was "removed from his position" as deputy director for management in the advanced research projects agency on Aug. 24. He has appealed his dismissal from the $20,000 a year job.

UAW to Press for Ford Pact Friday

Negotiations With GM to Start Later, Reuther Says

DETROIT (AP) — United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther, with a Chrysler agreement which he estimated to be worth 54 cents an hour over the next three years, will begin a drive at Ford Motor Co. Friday for the equivalent or better.

From Ford, Reuther said he would proceed to General Motors Corp.

The union is expected to demand the same pattern — including a possible pension in 1965 of up to $400 a month at age 60 — from American Motors Corp., scores of supplier plants and the agricultural implement industry.

The Big Three of General Motors, Ford and Chrysler employ more than a half million UAW-represented workers. Their contracts often set national patterns.

Most significant gains at Chrysler were in areas of earlier retirement and pensions.

Workers would get a bonus for quitting at 60 instead of 65. In those five years, effective next September, a worker would be guaranteed 70 per cent of his straight-time pay up to a maximum of $400 a month.

After 65 he would get $4.25 a month — instead of a current $2.80 — for each year of service, plus his government Social Security. This would mean a pension cut for a worker earning the industry average of $3.01 hourly if he had quit at 60.

The union, managed to hold on to annual wage boosters and a cost-of-living escalator and to gain company payment of full hospital-medical insurance.

Typhoon Causes Chinese Panic

HONG KONG (AP) — The riot squad was called out to control thousands of panicky Chinese who rushed ferries to the mainland today as Typhoon Sally whirled toward Hong Kong with winds up to 200 miles per hour.

The giant typhoon appeared to be aiming a direct blow at the crowded British colony where Typhoon Ruby killed 41 persons last Saturday.

Sally was expected to hit Hong Kong tonight.

Fringe winds of 50 miles an hour started buffeting the island at midday, sending ships and small craft scurrying to shelters.

Adventurer of 71 Ends 10,000-Mile Raft Trip

Set Out to Prove Old Man Able To Conquer Ocean on Sole Journey

BRISBANE, Australia (AP) — William Willis has proved once again that an old man can beat the sea.

The 71-year-old American adventurer completed a 10,000-mile two-stage solo trip across the Pacific on a raft Wednesday. He said the exploit nearly killed him.

Often Near Death

"I was at the point of death many times," the bearded New Yorker reported after he beached his raft Age Unlimited at Tully, 1,150 miles north of Brisbane. He had set out from Peru on July 4, 1963.

"I came in on my last set of nerves," said Willis.

"The weather was extremely bad and I had many catastrophes. I think a vertebra in my back is broken."

Willis, who sailed from Peru to Samoa on a balsa raft in 1954, started his second transpacific voyage last year "to show that a man past 65 is still in the running if he wants to be."

Used Steel Raft

For his second trip he used a steel raft 33 by 18 feet, equipped with three self-sealing pontoons, one fore and two aft. With a hand-cranked radio transmitter he occasionally was able to communicate with passing ships.

When his rudder was smashed off Samoa last November, he went home to New York where repairs were made. He flew back to Samoa in June and resumed his voyage.

He injured his back Aug. 6 off the New Hebrides.

"I was taking in sail when the ropes on a block gave way," he reported. "The ropes were rotten. I crashed into an iron jib boom and hurt my back."

"I had two sails up and was unable to take them down. One, the mainsail, was ripped to pieces. I was able to crawl to my cabin to get food and water."

Helpless for 6 Days

For six days, Willis said, he was paralyzed from the waist down. To keep from being washed overboard by the pounding seas, he lashed himself to the deck.

In this condition he took pictures of himself by movie and still cameras, to show doctors and use on lecture tours.

Disaster nearly struck again

premiums for retirees, as well as workers.

The new Chrysler contract, yet to be signed but agreed upon in principle, was described by Reuther as "the most historic agreement in the American labor movement."

Says Plan Not Inflationary
It is one destined to "raise tremendously" the government's Social Security benefits scale, Reuther said. "as the Ford pension agreement (first in the industry) unlocked them in 1949."

The UAW chief described the Chrysler agreement as non-inflationary, declared it would require no price increase, and added, that as a matter of fact, the company could cut car prices "and still make a profit much more satisfactory than for the average American industry."

John D. Leary, Chrysler vice president, administration, agreed the settlement was non-inflationary, but said no decision had been made as to what effect, if any, it would have on prices of 1965 Chrysler models.

Johnson Pleased
President Johnson said in Washington he was gratified by statements from company and union officials "that this settlement takes full account of both public and private interests, that it will mean more jobs and that it will be non-inflationary."

The President also expressed pleasure that differences were "settled peacefully and privately on true good faith and collective bargaining" 55 minutes before the UAW's 74,000 Chrysler employees were to have walked out on strike at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, hailed the agreement as a development that "bodes well for the future of the economy," adding: "Responsible management and responsible unionism have been able to come to a responsible and just settlement."

Pickets at Dodge Plant
Not all was contentment, however, among Chrysler workers. Some 60 pickets blocked the three gates to the Dodge main plant in suburban Hamtramck Wednesday night, complaining their local grievances had not been settled.

Some pickets expressed annoyance at present work standards, the quota of work assigned individuals, and a spokesman who identified himself as C. Schwab said only plant protection men would be admitted to this biggest Chrysler plant until grievances were mopped up.

The UAW won one of what it termed its top major non-economic demands in the area of improved working conditions.

More Relief Time
Relief time, which workers are permitted away from what the union terms "the grinding monotony of machines and the assembly lines," was expanded from 24 to 36 minutes a day.

However, the UAW gave up its demand for two 10-minute daily stoppages which would have amounted to coffee breaks for production workers. It will get two 18-minute, instead of 12-minute, daily breaks in which relievers spell workers while they take care of physical needs.

The union's 25-member international executive board unanimously approved the Chrysler settlement Wednesday night and authorized the UAW's four officers and chiefs of its GM, Ford and Chrysler departments "to make any decisions" necessary henceforth in bargaining.

No Deadline Set
Ford and GM agreed to extend contracts previously extended from Aug. 31, to next Tuesday. The UAW set no strike deadline at either.

Reuther said he believes the economic package at Ford and GM "generally will follow Chrysler's," but that 15 cents hourly should buy more benefits at both. He cited larger employment by these two, with more man hours worked per year, and what he said was Chrysler's relatively older work force.

In winning its gains at Chrysler, the UAW agreed to give up an annual wage increase due to go into paychecks this month.

This so-called annual improvement factor gives workers a yearly boost of 2½ per cent or 6 cents hourly, whichever is greater, and is designed to compensate workers for cost-saving technological advances.

While passing it until next September, when the current rate will apply, the union won a long-sought boost from 2.5 per cent to 2.8 per cent for the third year of the contract.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics figures the current average hourly wage for the auto industry as a whole is $3.01 but the Big Three contend their average straight-time pay is higher.

Reuther said if increased and added benefits at Chrysler finally did not eat up 54 cents hourly, what was left would be "factored into the base wage." In addition, the company estimated insurance payments it took over in full would add one per cent to take-home pay.

as he neared the Great Barrier Reef off the northeast coast of Australia.

"The weather was bad and I had a terrible struggle. I had only charts for Brisbane and Sydney and had to rely on seamanship to get myself in where I am now."

Dangerous Passage
"I came through the Great Barrier Reef two days ago through the Family Islands. I don't know what brought me through. There were rocks on each side and it was touch and go."

Willis hit the shore among mangroves between the mouths of the Tully and Murray rivers at 11 a.m. Wednesday.

He sent up rockets to attract attention but without success. Finally he left his raft and walked two or three miles to the mouth of the Tully River.

Hank Penning, a schoolteacher, spotted the long-haired figure on the opposite bank at 4:30 p.m.

Crocodiles in River
"I had no idea who it was," Penning said. "But I could see that he wanted help. I took a boat and went across to him. He put out his hand and said, 'I'm Willis from New York.'"

Willis told him he was about to swim the 400-yard-wide river.

"He wouldn't have lasted five minutes," said Penning. "The river is teeming with crocodiles."

Penning drove Willis to the Tully police station where Sgt. Arthur Moylan questioned him.

"He looked like the Ancient Mariner," Moylan said, "a leathery looking bloke about 5 feet 8 inches tall with keen sea blue eyes, gray beard and long brown hair."

Willis told Moylan he planned to have his raft shipped to the entrance of Sydney harbor, then sail up the harbor.

Ate Huge Meal
Penning took Willis home for dinner.

"He waded through a huge meal," the teacher said.

Willis said he had finished his last onion Tuesday and had only a few cans of food left.

Penning and his wife offered the old man a bed for the night, but he insisted on returning to his raft.

"The raft is the clumsiest looking thing I've ever seen," said Penning. "The only living area is the tiny 10 by 5 foot cabin that is crammed with every conceivable object."

Willis planned to move his raft today to safe anchorage inside the Tully. He said he wants to get to New York as soon as possible to lecture at the World's Fair on his voyage.

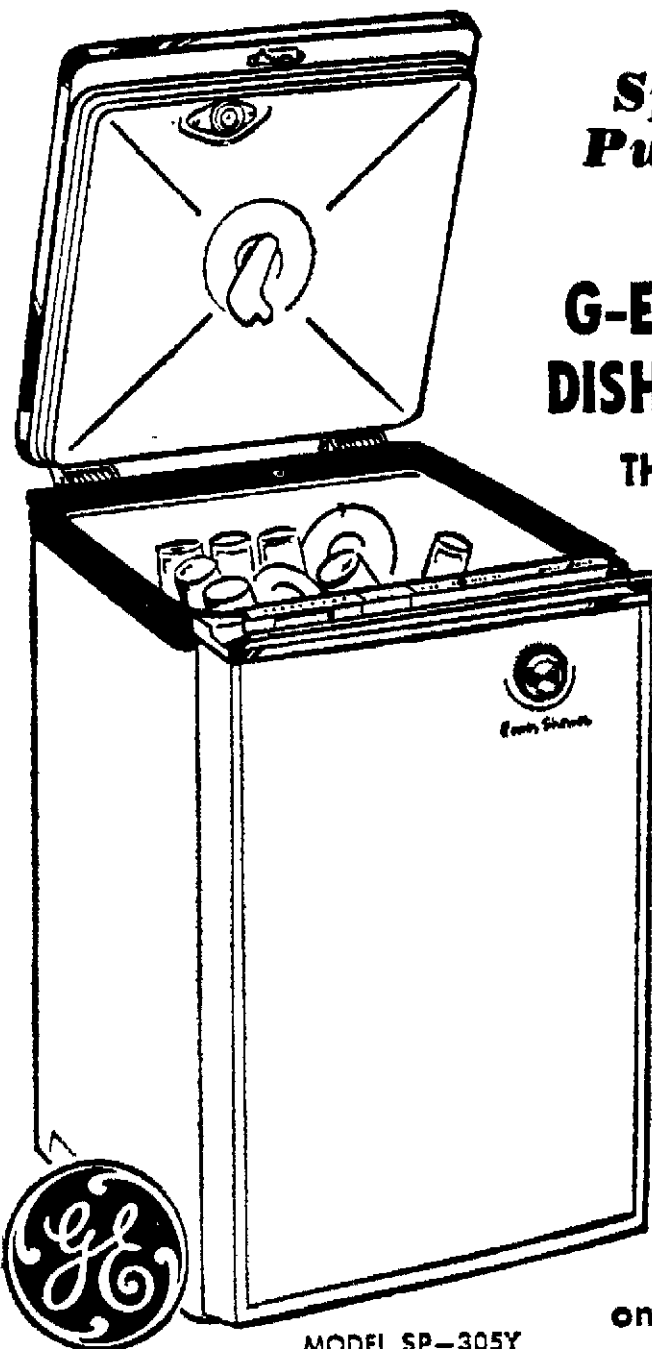

Willis' wife said in New York that she was "happy that he got to land." She said she had had no direct word from her husband since he landed.

Beach, S.C., and along the Gulf coast of Florida from Sarasota to Apalachicola.

"We think the storm will go up through the center of Georgia," said a forecaster at the National Hurricane Center in Miami. "That would take some of the steam out of it."

When Dora's calm eye finally pressed ashore, St. Augustine and Jacksonville Beach already had been hammered by hurricane-force winds, slashing rain and huge waves for more than 12 hours.

Troops Help Citizens

This morning, the hurricane's tide pushed the waters of the St. Johns River over its banks into a residential area in the middle of Jacksonville.

National Guard trucks were dispatched to the area to remove residents.

St. Augustine's water supply was low, causing a critical problem at shelters housing evacuees. The storm shut down pumps used by the water utility.

"My big problem is deciding whether to let these people out of shelters," said Civil Defense Director Fred Willis. "I've got no water pressure in the shelters. We can't flush the toilets."

Thousands Leave Homes

An estimated 50,000 persons fled the northeast Florida coastline as Dora approached Wednesday. Other thousands left their homes for higher ground in Georgia and South Carolina.

Dora was a nightmare at Jacksonville Beach, 35 miles to the north. Pounded by hurricane force winds and crashing waves, the seawall began to crumble.

Floodwaters swirled three or four blocks from the beach and ran in some streets like small rivers. Live wires hissed like snakes.

Refuge in School Gym

Twelve hundred refugees from the storm tried to sleep on the floor of a high school gym as rain swept in through broken windows.

Store windows were smashed at mainland Jacksonville, 18 miles from the beach. Police reported some looting. At least three men were arrested.

Power was out to 92 per cent of the city. Trees were bowled over and minor debris littered the streets.

Most of the power was also knocked out at the vacation city of Brunswick, about 100 miles north of St. Augustine. The roof of one building was blown completely away. Two other roofs were badly damaged.

Ferris Wheel Shattered

Windows were smashed, and sheets of tin pitched into the streets. A ferris wheel was smashed on Jekyll Island.

Damage figures were expected to run high in St. Augustine when people were able to leave shelter to take stock.

The only reported death caused by Dora was in Brunswick, where a man was missing and presumed drowned after he tried to retrieve a boat broken loose from its moorings.

Two Navy fliers died in the crash of their plane being flown from Sanford, Fla., Naval Air Station out of Dora's path.

This city of 15,000, getting ready for its 400th anniversary celebration after a summer of racial turmoil, was first struck by Dora early Wednesday.

Fort Isolated

The narrow streets of the old city were flooded twice before midnight. White caps raced along the streets. Foam covered shrubbery like snow. A National Guard officer said the water was six feet deep in some sections of the peninsula across Matanzas Bay.

The Castillo de San Marcos, the oldest Spanish fort in the United States, was isolated by a moat of turbulent water.

From the Monson Motor Lodge, one center of Dr. Martin Luther King's integration drive, the city "looked like a morgue," the desk clerk said.

Oak-shaded streets were repaved with twigs, branches and leaves. One huge old oak that must have been around when St. Augustine was founded was completely uprooted.

Flee Georgia Beaches

Twenty thousand persons were believed to have spent the night in Florida churches, schools and armories. Thousands of others filled mainland hotels, motels and the homes of friends.

Thousands also fled Georgia and South Carolina beaches.

Voting in Georgia's statewide election was suspended at Savannah Beach when the mayor ordered the island evacuated. The balloting was finished on the mainland.

Power failures at Brunswick caused late voters to cast their ballots by flashlight.

The hurricane winds are expected to diminish gradually as the storm moves inland, but the torrential rains will continue.

After an eight-day journey across the Atlantic Ocean, Dora pulled up off the Florida Coast Wednesday, feinting first at Cape Kennedy and then Daytona Beach. Both got off lightly.

Then Dora churned toward St. Augustine and Jacksonville, hovered off the coast for hours pounding the two cities, and charged ashore late Wednesday night.

Hurricane Ethel started moving westward from about 300 miles south of Bermuda on a path very close to the one Dora took. Ethel's highest winds were 90 m.p.h.

Knowles Has Program for Development

Industrial and Economic Goals For State Cited

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Warren Knowles, the Republican candidate for governor, has outlined a five-point program for increasing economic and industrial development to create at least 10,000 new factory jobs a year.

Speaking at a service club meeting in Eau Claire Wednesday, he proposed:

Elimination of unfavorable factors causing industry to bypass Wisconsin, such as an oppressive tax burden.

Establishment of programs to improve favorable factors and resources, including water, timber, skilled labor and transportation.

Encourage Expansion

Activation of programs to encourage expansion by companies already in Wisconsin.

Implementation of a program for "selling" Wisconsin as a superior state for industrial expansion.

Creation of an atmosphere of cooperation between state government, business, labor and the public.

Democratic Gov. John W. Reynolds, who is bidding for a second term said Wednesday that for the first time Wisconsin has taken direct action "to help our elderly citizens," he spoke at a meeting of Wisconsin Senior Citizen and Golden Age Clubs in Milwaukee.

Tax Relief

"In passing our programs of property tax relief for the elderly and medical care for the elderly we have put Wisconsin's senior citizens in a position to be envied," Reynolds said.

He also said that more remains to be done— "especially in the fields of low-cost housing for the elderly and nursing homes for the elderly."

Robert D. Haase of Marinette, Republican speaker of the Assembly, told a Milwaukee GOP meeting Wednesday night the administrations of former Democratic Gov. Gaylord Nelson and Reynolds "have driven Wisconsin to the verge of disaster—to the very brink of bankruptcy."

Economic Chaos

He said another such administration would "cause economic chaos."

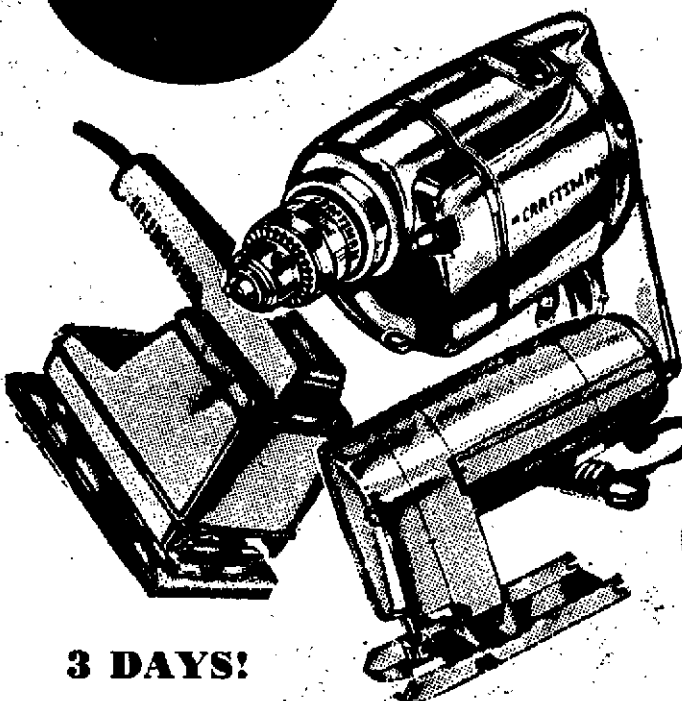

Patrick Lucey, the Democratic lieutenant governor candidate, spoke at Cross Plains Wednesday and criticized what he said was Barry Goldwater's recommendation that the farm subsidy program be terminated. He said Goldwater would reward the nation's agricultural productivity with a program "which would leave many farmers economically destitute."

A Taste of Excellent Cuisine at the World's Fair

BY LILLIAN MACKESY
Post-Crescent Food Editor

NEW YORK—From a diner's point of view the World's Fair is a paradise. Flushing Meadow is, indeed, filled with restaurants. There are attractive outdoor eating places . . . there are many beautiful indoor restaurants with superb service and excellent cuisine. Some take fat pocketbooks . . . others feature medium priced menus . . . and some are downright bargains in quality plus quantity.

It was impossible to see them all during a three-day visit to the Fair, but a peek at most of the New York . . . posted outside restaurants together with prices in the New York City fashion . . . was proof enough that this is truly a world-wide fair as far as foods are concerned.

Two modestly priced snacks which shouldn't be overlooked while wandering down Fair streets are the luscious Belgian waffles piled high with fresh fruit and whipped cream and the deliciously hot pizzas sold from individual wedge-size to huge whole ones. The waffles are found at a stand across from the Belgian Village and the pizzas on the farthest avenue of the Fair.

Two of today's recipes come from the 7-Up International Sandwich Gardens. This is a lovely outdoor dining area . . . a canopy-covered garden where foreign sandwich creations are served. The area is easy to find . . . it's just off the Central Mall and is distinguished by its 107-foot, 8-inch clock tower.

Here sandwiches are made from special breads, oval in shape with no crusts. Each trayful of sandwiches represents four countries within one of the global areas . . . northern Europe, the Mediterranean, the Americas and the Pacific. The result is such delicacies as the barbecued pork sandwich prepared Philippine-style and assorted wursts with a spicy dressing on German pumpernickel bread.

Two recipes come from the unusually beautiful, art-filled Spanish Pavilion with its three elegant restaurants. One is the gourmet Filet of Sole prepared with bananas and smothered in Hollandaise sauce. The Hollandaise is made with champagne by Granada Restaurant chefs. This gives the sauce a smoothness and delicacy that's divine, but a dry sauterne or lemon juice may be substituted with ease.

The other recipe is Cocido, a hearty soup-stew that is Spain's national dish. Various Spanish provinces have different ways of making Cocido. Some use potatoes instead of rice with garbanzos or chick peas . . . or spinach instead of cabbage. So, we include an American version using lima beans instead of the garbanzos and iceberg lettuce in place of spinach.

Inspired by foods of the Philippines, this sandwich of barbecued pork is one of the four served in the Pacific group at the 7-Up International Sandwich Gardens.

Roast Rack of Lamb with its spinach and pimiento stuffing is one of the many popular dishes with farguers who dine at The American Restaurant in the Festival of Gas Pavilion. This restaurant specializes in authentic regional American cuisine and many of its featured dishes come from rare American cookbooks of a bygone era.

Among the most sumptuous foods served in exciting atmosphere were those from the Spanish Pavilion restaurants. Examples are the national favorite, Cocido, left, and wine-prepared filet of sole, above.

Look, Friend!

You say the boss has been giving you a bad time and just doesn't seem to realize that you are only ONE person? You say he gave you a dirty look when you spent just an extra minute leaning on the coke machine? What about that letter you typed and missed one lousy comma? You say the kids came tearing into the house with muddy feet and got it all over your newly scrubbed kitchen floor and then when you shoed them into the den they knocked your favorite vase on the floor? You say one is now a "terrible two" but you have your doubts about him ever growing out of the stage? What about that lug you call the "light of your life" coming home late for dinner and then crabs because the soup is cold and the "cube steaks" look more like shriveled up prunes than Oscar Mayer's favorites? Well, look pal, we're not psychiatrists, we're just a bunch of real nice gals who sing their cares away every Tuesday evening at the Morgan School starting Tuesday, September 15th at 7:30. You say, what about the rest of the week? That's your problem, pal! We only take care of ONE night—but isn't that a good start?

Call Mrs. Peter Gietman, Jr., at 8-4384 or Mrs. Clarence Richter at 3-4388 and find out about the CHAMINADE WOMEN'S CHORUS of Appleton. They'll love to have you sing with them, and DON'T bring the tranquilizers along. NOBODY but NOBODY in CHAMINADE needs 'em!

Young Women catching up on their last minute back-to-school shopping last week were treated to a fashion show with a difference. Models who wore the young fashions came down the ramp doing popular dance steps instead of traditional pauses and turns. The tempo was set by a musical background. Seven of the 18 models at Geenen Dry Goods Co. show were members of the store's fashion board. At left, Karen Lamers models a plaid pleated skirt and cardigan. Your Problems

Husband's Attentions to Wife's Girl Friend Cause of Concern

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Jay and I have been married two years. My best girl friend is still single. My husband always changes his shirt and slicks his hair back with goose grease when he knows Kathy is coming over. Every time Jay drives Kathy home it takes longer and longer. A few weeks ago he had car trouble. Last week she invited him in for a nightcap, and he forgot the time.

Last night Kathy started to brag about her 21 inch waist. Maybe I'm overly sensitive because I'm pregnant, but I really got mad when she challenged Jay to encircle his hands around her waist to see if his thumbs and index fingers would touch.

I decided to ride along when Jay drove her home. All the way back he talked about her remarkable 21 inch waist. Do you think I have trouble? — Diss-Turbed

Dear Diss: A baby is infinitely more remarkable than a 21 inch waist. If Jay ever brings up her measurements again let him know. In the meantime, tell Kathy

she is welcome to come over if she wants to bring a boy friend along — to even up the party. But no more of this gleesome threesome jazz.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Last year my husband and I inherited a modest sum of money from an uncle. To listen to my mother and my aunt talk, you'd think it was a million dollars and that we are imbeciles. Every month they have a project they feel we should donate the money to. We've had personal visits from representatives of three charitable organizations since February (My mother and aunt sic them on us.) Two nephews have decided we should put them through college.

My husband and I are ready to tell them all off. How do we do it without alienating the whole tribe? — Nettled will there's a relative. Funny how nothing creates interest like inherited money.

The letters that appear in this column are evidence enough that otherwise bright people suddenly become stupid and timid when it comes to protecting themselves against members of their own family.

Put an end to the problem by telling them to stop worrying about the money because you plan to dispose of it in your own way.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My girl and I want to be married soon. Will you please tell us what states do not require a blood test? We want to go to one of these states.

We believe it is unconstitutional for a state to stick its nose into the condition of people's blood. This is not the government's business. It is a personal matter. If we want to be married without a blood test we should be able to do so. Thank you in advance for your help. — Independent Thinkers

Dear I. P.'s: You thanked me too soon. I am not going to give you any help.

Unfortunately there are still a few backward states which do not require a blood test be-

PHILIPPINE-STYLE SANDWICH

5 to 6-pound pork loin roast 1 can crushed pineapple, undrained (9-ounce can) 1/2 cup finely chopped sweet mixed pickles
1/4 cup soy sauce
1/4 cup lemon juice
1/4 cup brown sugar, packed
2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons cold water
1/2 cup soft butter
1/4 teaspoon ginger
1/2 teaspoon thyme, powdered
1/2 teaspoon savory
1/2 teaspoon rosemary
16 slices white bread

Place pork loin in open baking pan. Mix pineapple, pickle, soy sauce, lemon juice and brown sugar. Pour over pork loin. Bake in 325-degree oven until thoroughly done (allow about 40 minutes per pound).
Baste meat three to four times during roasting. Remove meat from pan. Save all drippings.
Cool roast and drippings. Bone pork loin; slice very thin. Remove fat from drippings.

Measure drippings and add water as needed to bring to one and one-half cups. Combine cornstarch and cold water; stir until free of lumps. Heat drippings, stir in cornstarch mixture and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cool.

Mix butter, ginger, thyme, savory and rosemary. Spread half of bread slices with half-tablespoon herb butter and one and one-half tablespoons sauce per slice. Top with thinly sliced pork, cover with remaining bread slices. Use wooden picks to hold sandwiches together. Cut sandwiches in half or thirds, as desired. Recipe makes eight sandwiches.

GERMAN-STYLE SANDWICH

1 cup salad dressing
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
1 teaspoon horseradish
2 to 3 dashes Tabasco sauce
16 slices pumpernickel bread
16 slices liver sausage
24 slices salami
8 slices bologna

Combine first four ingredients; blend well. Spread surfaces of two slices of bread using one tablespoon salad dressing mixture on each slice. Cover one slice of bread with two overlapping slices of liver sausage and top with three overlapping slices of salami. Fold a bologna slice in half and place on salami and cover with second slice of bread.

Use wooden picks to hold sandwich together; cut sandwich in half or thirds, as desired. Prepare remaining sandwiches in same manner. Recipe makes eight hearty sandwiches.

BLUE DENIM "AUTOGRAPH-ING" PARTY

The newest fun fad for birthday parties is the idea of "autographing" blue denim jackets by guests at the party. Boys sign their names in light blue pastel chalk; girls in bright pink chalk. A touch of hair-spray "sets" the autographs until the jacket is washed. Some inventive girls sketch a birthday cake on their jackets, with each "candle" represented by a guest's name. Still other girls have fun by sketching goony birds, seascapes or animals on their jackets and wear them as 'conversation pieces' to hootenannies and other get-togethers.

Beauties Find Love, Home Life

BY TOM SEPPY
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — What can Miss America expect when she gives up her tiara and a new queen is crowned.

If past performance is any gauge, she can settle back to the life of a normal girl — continuing her education and finding a husband.

However, a review of the 10 Miss Americas prior to the reigning queen, Donna Axum of El Dorado, Ark., also indicates that a former Miss America might remain in the public eye.

Six Queens Married

Six of the past 10 Miss Americas are married, one is a divorcee and three are still single. Seven continued their education. Eight of the girls still make public appearances.

Marilyn Van Derber of Denver, Colo., Miss America of 1958, was graduated from the University of Colorado after her reign and now is married to Larry Adler, a Denver attorney.

The blonde beauty does television commercials, and she will be a judge in the contest which begins the preliminary competition tonight.

Most Complete Education

Another former Miss America who has combined a marriage with a career is Marian Ann McKnight who was from Manning, S.C. when she took the title for 1957.

After giving up the throne, she completed her college education at U.C.L.A. Now living in Hollywood, she is married to television actor Garth Carmody and is the mother of a daughter. She also does television commercials.

Two others who still make public appearances are Lee Meriwether, 1955, who is Mrs. Frank Atletter of Granada Hills, Calif., and mother of two, and Jacqueline Mayer, 1963, now Mrs. John Townsend of Meadow Lands, Pa.

Mary Ann Mobley of Brandon, Miss., 1959; Lynda Lee Meade, Natchez, Miss., 1960, and Maria Beale Fletcher, 1962, Asheville, N.C., are still in college.

The divorcee is Sharon Kay Ritchie, 1956, who lives in New

Miss Angela Baldi, representing Wisconsin, third from the left, smiles in anticipation of the week long events for a new Miss America contest held in Atlantic City. York City and does television commercials.

Two Live Quietly

Out of the limelight except in the eyes of her husband and two children is Evelyn Ay, 1954, who married her longtime sweetheart, Carl Semper, after her year's reign. She lives in Berwyn, Pa.

Nancy Anne Fleming, 1961, now Mrs. William F. Johnson, is a student at the University of California at Berkeley. She hasn't made public appearances since giving up her title.

Breakfast Important To Dieter

When there's a weight watcher in the family it isn't necessary to prepare two different meals. Plan good meals with meat, milk cereals, fruits and vegetables but leave off sauces, gravies and extras for the one who wants to lose weight.

Putting on weight, which is often as great a problem as losing it, means that eating whipped cream, butter, sauces and gravies along with a standard meal is acceptable. For both the skinny and the plump the same basic foods are needed.

Taking off weight can start with breakfast. Cook the breakfast eggs without fat, perhaps in a no-stick pan. Drink a glass of skim milk or use it on cereals. Keep the amount of butter on the one slice of toast at a minimum and don't spread it with jelly. Use unsweetened fruit or juices and leave the cream and sugar out of the coffee.

Lunch Necessary
Be sure to eat lunch. Don't think that going without lunch will help weight loss. Use broth soups to make cream soups with two per cent, skim or dry milk and omit the butter. Depend on seasoning for some of the rich flavor. Include a glass of skim milk to give a full feeling.

In fixing dinner, leave the butter off the broiled steak. Or serve the stuffed pork chop or roast chicken without the stuffing to the weight watcher. They can eat the meat but omit any stuffing, gravies or sauces.

Serve potato or other vegetable without butter or sauce. Lemon juice and herbs will give flavor without calories. Use a low-calorie dressing on a tossed salad or make a gelatin with the low-calorie brand.

If snacks before bed are a habit, save the dinner dessert to have then. Fruits, a small dish of ice or sherbet, lemonade with artificial sweetener, fruit juices or the second glass of milk for the day make good bed-time snacks.

If the cook happens to be the weight watcher it's important that sampling while cooking be stopped. It's hard to tell how many calories get added that way.

Plants in Water

Most house plants may be grown in water if careful attention is paid to aerating the water, adding fertilizers, regulating acidity, and changing the solution every two or three weeks.

A few pieces of charcoal will help to keep the water fresh. If green algae form on the roots, wash the roots and change the water.

Does Not See Quick Victory For U. S.-Supported Troops

BY LEWIS GULICK
WASHINGTON (AP) — Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor has told Johnson administration leaders that anti-Communist military forces in South Viet Nam are growing in strength and efficiency at a faster rate than the Red Viet Cong guerrillas, it was reported today.

Taylor, however, has also told conferees here that he does not think the U.S.-supported Vietnamese are going to achieve victory over the Red guerrillas by military means in the foreseeable future.

Negotiation Possible
Officials said, therefore, that Taylor would not rule out negotiations aimed at ending the fighting in the South. He is represented as believing a situation may be brought about — apparently by increasing anti-Communist military pressures — in which Communist North Viet Nam will decide it has to negotiate a peace settlement in order to save itself.

The ambassador was slated to leave Washington by plane early this evening to return to troubled Saigon.

The focus of attention in the broad administration review of the South Viet Nam situation since Taylor's arrival Monday has been on political stability there.

U. S. View
In the U.S. view, the Southeast Asian country needs a strong central government under good leadership to cope with the Communist insurgents. After more than two weeks of political turmoil, Premier Nguyen Khanh is once again emerging in control and he has U.S. backing.

The U.S. reappraisal climaxed Wednesday — first with a session between President Johnson, his top military and diplomatic advisers and Taylor, and then by a two-hour meeting of 14 congressional leaders at the White House to hear from the ambassador.

The President told newsmen after the bipartisan legislative leadership session that Taylor had reported "continued progress in the field in the Vietnamese army's fight against the Communist Viet Cong."

English Department Store to Put Rings On Half-Clad Dummies

LONDON (AP) — A department store in Birmingham made honest women today out of 20 of its half-clad dummies.

"We've put wedding rings on their fingers," said display manager Frank Smith.

"One critic wrote in and asked us if all our wax models were wealthy spinsters, or ladies of easy virtue," he said. "We understood the point. It's not at all unreasonable, so from now on dummies in — let us say, positions of delicacy — will wear wedding rings."

Smith said by "positions of delicacy" he meant wearing negligees or frilly underwear, or standing beside beds.

Engagement Rings
The store also is going to put engagement rings on the fingers of pretty dummies in personal but less compromising situations than bedrooms.

"We shall continue," said Smith, "until all of our autumn models are married or engaged."

Several large London department stores said they had never received complaints about their dummies.

"All of ours are unmarried," said one spokesman, "and we expect they'll stay unmarried. London isn't Birmingham, up in the strait-laced midlands."

Birmingham once made ballerina Anna Pavlova put on heavy tights to dance Swan Lake. Less than 50 years ago the city fathers forced an actress playing Cinderella to cover her bare feet.

Miller Voices Doubts About Vote Counting

Corruption in Government Is Held Major Issue

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Rep. William E. Miller, the Republican party's hard-hitting candidate for vice president, twice has raised a question of whether this November's election will be an honest one.

The statements were the toughest that Miller has directed toward the president during the New York congressman's campaign.

In Manchester, N.H., Wednesday night, Miller told a cheering audience of 2,500 that GOP presidential nominee Barry Goldwater and he believe in the democratic process. "And we don't want it made a sham of by the powers in this administration."

Chicago Votes

Continuing, Miller said: "By that, I mean that when our votes are cast in Chicago on Election Day, I want them counted on election night."

"And when our votes are cast in Texas on Election Day, I want them counted on election night."

In a speech to a crowd of approximately 500 earlier at Rutland, Vt., Miller said he hoped there would be an "honest election process" this year "even though I sometimes wonder if Lyndon Johnson wants it that way or not."

He also referred at Rutland to counting the Chicago and Texas votes.

He did not elaborate on the references.

Texas is the President's home state. Some Republicans charged in 1960, after the Democrats took Illinois by a narrow margin, that there had been vote tampering in Democratic-controlled Chicago.

Honest Government

In another part of his Rutland speech, Miller said the majority of the American people want clean and honest government "even if Lyndon Johnson doesn't."

The GOP nominee has held repeatedly in his campaign that corruption in the federal government is a major issue this year.

Miller's schedule today called for a stop in this capital city of Rhode Island and a speech in Newport.

His agenda listed an appointment in the late afternoon in New York city with William Randolph Hearst Jr., editor-in-chief of the Hearst Newspapers.

Western Influence

Briton Claims Social Drinking Almost Impossible to Eliminate

BY HANNS NEUBOURG

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — A leading British fighter against alcoholism says it's practically impossible to eliminate social drinking.

"What we can do is to reduce the social pressure on people to drink," said Archer Tongue, director of the International Bureau Against Alcoholism.

He also reported: "For example, a host throwing a party could also offer non-alcoholic drinks."

Tongue, here for an international congress on alcohol and alcoholism, said that Western influence, particularly American, has made drinking a sign of prestige. Thus, he said, problems of alcoholism have developed in countries which by tradition did not have them, particularly in Asia and the Middle East.

African Countries
In some African countries, the stronger spirits were barred to Negroes by their colonialist rulers. Drinking has now become a symbol of their new independence, Tongue reported.

"The Stalinist theory was that the problem would vanish with the abolition of private enterprise," he said. "But developments proved that nationalizing the alcohol industry is not at all a solution."

Alcoholism among women is a big problem but it is difficult to say how big — "because women can cover up much more easily," Tongue said.

Female Alcoholism
He also reported: "The United States, Chile, and Poland are other countries faced with most serious problems of alcoholism. One American expert says the United States has about a fifth of the world's estimated 25 million alcoholics."

France continues to lead the world in per capita consumption of alcohol.

The United States, Chile, and Poland are other countries faced with most serious problems of alcoholism. One American expert says the United States has about a fifth of the world's estimated 25 million alcoholics.

"Prohibition is not practical in southern countries," said Tongue. "What is needed is education and under-standings."

Malaysia Seeks Help For U.N. Condemnation

Charge Sukarno's Indonesia With Invasion by Paratroops of Johore

BY MAX HARRELSON

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Malaysia is reported having difficulty trying to line up support for a U.N. condemnation of Indonesia charging President Sukarno's government with aggression.

U.N. diplomats expressed doubt that Malaysia could get the seven votes necessary in the 11-nation Security Council for any resolution of condemnation.

There was a possibility that a watered-down compromise would emerge, but Indonesian Deputy Foreign Minister Sudjarwo Tjondronegoro has indicated his government wants no resolution.

Council Meeting
Another council meeting on the issue was scheduled this afternoon.

The bitter dispute between the two Southeast Asian neighbors was aired before the council Wednesday in long speeches by Sudjarwo and Malaysia's minister of home affairs, Dato Ismail Bin Abdul Rahman.

The debate was enlivened by an attempt by Ismail to put before the council a blood-stained uniform, a mortar and automatic gun and a white parachute. He said they were captured from Indonesians who had invaded Malaysia.

Soviet Ambassador Platon D. Morozov, the council's president for September, ordered the exhibits removed from the chamber, saying he did not know if the arms were loaded.

Ismail assured him they weren't but complied with Morozov's order.

Paratroop Landings
Ismail based his complaint mainly on the landing last week of 40 Indonesian paratroopers in the Malaysian state of Johore.

Sudjarwo acknowledged that Indonesian "volunteers" and "guerrillas" were fighting on the Malaysian mainland as well as in Sarawak and Sabah, Malaysia's north Borneo states.

He said such action was necessary to wipe out colonialism and said Indonesia plans to continue its policy of confrontation until a political settlement is reached.

British Gurkha troops killed three more of the Indonesian paratroops in jungle clashes in central Johore State Wednesday, the Malaysian Defense Ministry announced. They said this made eight of the paratroops killed, while 11 others have been captured.

Admitted Slayer Of Girl Sent to State School
MILWAUKEE (AP) — A 15-year-old boy who admitted the slaying of 11-year-old Janette Joy Kruczycki has been committed to the State School for Boys at Wales for an indeterminate period.

Children's Court Judge Howard Brown found the youth delinquent Wednesday in the offense of second degree murder. The judge recommended further diagnostic study and psychiatric treatment for the boy.

The girl's body was found 100 feet inside a storm sewer tunnel on Milwaukee South Side on Aug. 11, five days after she disappeared from her home. She had been strangled and beaten to death.

The boy told police he threw at least 10 rocks at her after she resisted his sexual advances.

He had been charged originally with first degree murder and Brown rejected a defense request that it be reduced to manslaughter.

Sheinwold Don't Avoid Minor Suit Contracts

"Bidding systems, so emphasize the major suits and no trump that good players seldom know how to reach a game, going bid of five in a minor suit when that is the best contract," writes Albert H. Morehead.

When this hand was played in a tournament, not long ago, most of the experts tried in vain to make three no trump or even four spades. Tournament players have special reasons for avoiding game contracts in clubs and diamonds, but there is no reason for rubber bridge players to do so also.

In this case five diamonds was an aggressive contract, but quite reasonable. South needed only a successful finesse to make five diamonds—as it turned out.

"The finesse worked, but better defense would have put South to a guess, but he might have guessed wrong," Morehead observes in his splendid new book "Morehead on Bidding."

Takes Ace

West took the ace of hearts and shuffled to the three of clubs. Declare won in dummy with the king of clubs and returned a diamond, finessing with the jack.

When West took the ace of diamonds, South had no further problem. He won the club continuation in dummy, took another diamond finesse, and led the king of diamonds to draw East's queen. Then he claimed the rest.

There was nothing to it, and most players would go on to the next hand without ever realizing that an important play had been overlooked. Morehead's book tells how to play as well as how to bid.

West should play low on the first diamond trick. South could

Beauty Contestants Prize Scholarships; Extra Sleep

BY TOM SEPPY
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—A Miss America contestant leads a glamorous and exciting life but by the end of the week, one of the most coveted prizes is the opportunity to sleep an extra hour.

The girls vying for the crown in the nation's oldest beauty contest are whirled through a hectic schedule from the time they check in Monday until they leave Sunday afternoon. Their every move is fitted into a timetable that would make an efficiency expert green with envy.

A full day of continually posing for pictures, giving interviews, rehearsing talent, and competing is enough to give the young beauties shadows under their eyes.

Sleep at Premium

"I'm having a great time but I wish I could get a little more sleep," said Miss Connecticut, Honorar Bukowski of Wallingford, echoing the sentiments of the 50 beauties in the contest.

Miss Ohio, Diane Courtwright of Columbus, said: "It seems like I just get in bed and it's time to get up again."

Through it all the girls wear a broad smile.

"I smiled so much last night, I found it hard to close my mouth," said a smiling Miss New Hampshire, Elizabeth Emerson of Durham, after the boardwalk parade.

Day Begins Early

"It's quite hard smiling for such a long time," said Miss West Virginia, Ella Kessel of Ripley. "Your face doesn't ache, however, if you can get a person to respond to your smile."

Most of the girls rise at dawn still make the game by leading a low diamond from his hand.

But would he?

More probably South would lead another club to dummy to lead diamonds, once more through East. The finesse would work again, but South would go down. West would take the ace of diamonds and lead a third club for East to ruff.

As dealer, you hold: S-8-4, H-A-Q-10-9-4, D-A-6, C-10-8-7-3. What do you say?

Answer: Bid one heart or pass. Many experts refuse to bid this borderline hand. Personally, I cannot bring myself to pass it. Perhaps you should pass this hand with a wild partner but should bid if your partner is conservative.

to be ready when their hostesses call at 8:30 a.m. to take them to Convention Hall.

At the hall they rehearse, then go through their individual routines.

When the girls catch a break in rehearsal, they usually find photographers and reporters waiting for them.

The girls go to dinner between 6:15 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Then comes the night's competition, usually until 11:15 p.m. Then it's more interviews and pictures.

Scholarships Given

Is the tiring week worth it? There's a $10,000 scholarship and an estimated $80,000 in personal appearance contracts for the girl chosen Miss America. There's also about $40,000 in scholarships to be divided among the losers.

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

OVERLY SENSITIVE

Dear Louise: If people ask my religion, am I being weak to refuse to answer (good naturedly)? If I refuse, it would look as if I haven't loyalty for my church. Yet, whenever I answer, I find that someone is often offended then unpleasantness is the result.

Louise Davis Answers:

As there is good in all religions and as individuals are proud of their own denominations, I see no reason to refuse to answer if someone makes inquiries. I can't understand why anyone should be offended when you answer and perhaps you misinterpret the reaction. The main thing is to always avoid discussion on religion. Everyone to his own should be a foregone conclusion. The less said on the subject, the better . . . just like politics or any other controversial subject.

RING OR KNOCK?

Dear Louise: When parents go to a college campus to see their daughter living in a sorority house, should they ring the door bell or just step inside without ringing? Is it the same for a fraternity house?

Louise Davis Answers:

Fraternity and sorority houses are homes in every sense of the word where privacy should be considered. Yes, ring the bell which will be answered by a student or house mother.

Parents' World Lad Who Resists Sleeping Alone Needs Consistency

BY DR. EVE JONES

Dear Dr. Jones: My husband and I believe that consistency is the answer to many childhood problems. But we're not sure in our case what to be consistent about.

Our two-year-old son has only slept a few full nights by himself in his life.

At nap time he goes to his room, plays, looks at his books, and falls to sleep without any difficulty.

But the only way he will go to bed at night is if I lie down with him or sit by his bed or let him fall asleep on the living room couch while my husband and I are watching TV. He gets a snack and a story and a snuggle before we tuck him in.

Dr. Jones

But he gets up almost immediately when I leave.

He also wakes about three times every night and comes to our room or sits in his bed and cries. Then I have to lie down with him again. I know he's very spoiled because he was very sick from birth until lately. But we have finally helped him to learn to play by himself during the day, and now I want to stop this sleep problem, too. How?

Children learn bad habits as well as good ones by consistent practice. That's why letting your child get you to sleep with him or sit by him every night merely encourages him to expect your presence.

It's wise for parents to calm down a child who's facing unusual pain or some extraordinary upset. But when something like this becomes a steady pattern, nothing is gained by promoting other bad habits. Even if your son becomes sick again, don't let him continue his current sleeping pattern.

Follow your usual bedtime procedure of putting him to bed. Then, as you leave, tell your child that you want him to stay in his bed and to stop pestering you. If he cries more than five minutes, go to him and tell him you're sorry he's angry and unhappy. Then leave him immediately. If he comes to you, pick him up, tell him you want him to stay in bed, and put him back there. Repeat as often as you must. Don't scold or punish; just put him where he belongs.

He may cry all night for one night, even for two. But don't let the noise make you change your mind. Most children realize the game's over by the third night and they adjust to the notion of going to sleep as they should, when they should.

Dr. Jones replies personally to every letter she receives from her readers. Send your letters, including a stamped, self-ad-

Heavy Rains, Fog Handicap Search For Down Plane

Father, Daughter Missing Since Monday Sought in Fox Valley

A concentrated search from the skies over Black Creek and Shiocton has failed to produce clues to the mysterious disappearance of a Milwaukee pilot and his daughter who may have crashed in their small plane near there sometime Monday night or Tuesday morning.

Today, while civilian pilots and members of the Fox Cities Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol stand by to resume the air search, a communications van from Appleton was moving to the Wisconsin Rapids area to aid search operations there.

Missing in a flight from Wisconsin Rapids to Milwaukee is Lester Flaherty, 44, and his daughter, Sharon. The two left Wisconsin Rapids for a 90 minute flight to Milwaukee about 10:15 p.m. Monday. They have not been heard from since.

3-month-old son, Donald. Another son, Lester, 12, had a chance to go but declined to stay at home with his mother.

"I haven't given up hope," said Mrs. Flaherty. "We won't know anything until the plane is found. My husband is a very resourceful and capable person. If he is able, he will be taking care of Sharon and himself."

Flaherty was flying a blue and white, four-place, single-engine plane.

Robert G. Wick

Wick, 41, spent 10 days in Havana in April, 1963. He viewed economic conditions in Cuba and participated in the return of 675 refugees.

Long Service

Wick has been in Red Cross work since 1948. Before coming to Wisconsin in 1959, he served as director of the St. Paul Regional Blood Program from 1950 to 1953 and associate and executive director of the St. Paul Red Cross Chapter from 1953 to 1959.

Since coming to Milwaukee, he has revamped the disaster program and is expanding it.

He was instrumental in helping to form the Southeastern Wisconsin Association of Red Cross Chapters, made up of six chapters, in 1962, and now serves as its administrative assistant. The association serves voluntarily to ensure uniformity of Red Cross service in southeastern Wisconsin and to make effective use of total Red Cross resources.

Ground search for the pair in the Black Creek and Shiocton area is impossible and an air search is difficult. Heavy growth of trees and brush hamper observation. Roberts said if the aircraft slipped "in and under the trees" they would be hard to spot. He said it is hoped that the plane may have crashed in a level field or scattered a path through the brush and growth which may be seen from the sky.

Two planes searched an area near Coloma in Adams County for several hours Wednesday despite a low ceiling, and about 10 deputies waded through a marshy area hoping to find a trace of plane fragment reportedly seen by a passer-by. It was not found.

The Appleton YMCA's fall program for men and boys is getting underway, with activities ranging from the Indian Guides for 6-year-olds to the men's health club.

Activities for men include volleyball, a physical fitness class, the young men's basketball league, individual workouts, handball and paddleball, swimming, the health club, special massages and the Y's Men's clubs.

Boys' activities include the Indian Guides for 6, 7 and 8-year-olds and their fathers, the Midgets for second, third and fourth grade boys, the Friendly Indians for fifth and sixth grade boys, the Saturday boys' club program for grade school pupils, trampoline instructions, a gymnastics course, the basketball instructional league, swimming, the boys' choir, junior and senior Hi-Y clubs and the Pioneers for junior high school boys.

There also are programs and courses in which both men and women or boys and girls participate.

Boys' gym classes are scheduled according to grades, with the Midgets for second, third and fourth graders; the Friendly Indians for fifth and sixth graders; the Saturday boys' club program from 4 to 4:45 p.m. and recreational swimming from 4:45 to 5:30 p.m. Tuesdays; the Friendly Indians have recreational gym from 4:45 to 5:30 p.m. and recreational swimming from 5:30 to 6 p.m. Tuesdays.

YMCA Tribes Going Back In Session

The tomtoms are beating in Appleton again, calling the Indian Guides back into session for another school year.

The YMCA program for fathers and sons is based around an Indian lore theme, complete with tribes, chiefs, feather headbands and Indian names.

Boys 6, 7 and 8 years old and their fathers participate in the program, in which eight fathers and their sons meet in homes twice a month during the school year.

The purpose of the program, according to Thomas Klenz, Appleton YMCA youth director, is to build a close relationship between father and son. The slogan is "Pals Forever," and the philosophy is that if boys start at this young age to do things with their fathers, it will start a relationship that will go on for years, he said.

The activities include stories, games and crafts based on the Indian theme. Each tribe selects an Indian name, and the individual members all have Indian names.

The Y now has 12 tribes, and will be starting more. Within a week, Klenz said, brochures announcing the program will be sent to all first grade boys and their fathers in Appleton. New tribes are formed by neighborhood groups.

Young Adults

The Young Adult Club for single men and women meets Thursday evenings for social and educational activities.

The Teen Center is an informal dance from 7 to 9:30 p.m. the second and fourth Saturdays of each month for boys and girls in seventh, eighth and ninth grades. Alternating with it will be the new junior high cotillion, which will provide instruction in basic ballroom dancing.

The Den is the YMCA youth center for senior high school boys and girls. It is open from 3 to 5 p.m. and evenings on weekdays, with adult supervision at all times.

Several areas in the YMCA are available for private parties and community organizations. The swimming pool may be reserved from 7 to 10 p.m. Fridays. The gymnasium and other meeting rooms also may be reserved.

Owner Says He Will Raze Residence on Wisconsin Avenue

The owner of a building at 342 W. Wisconsin Ave. has reached agreement with city officials to raze the structure within 60 days.

Building Inspector Charles Magnette has informed the mayor and city council the owner, Raymond E. Braeger, route 1, was contacted and said the residence would be removed.

Ald. Arthur Mueller (19th) and Clifford Radder (16th) recently introduced a resolution in the council calling for immediate condemnation of the unoccupied home.

YMCA Will Offer New Fall Program

Special Interest, Hobby Groups Included in Plan for Men, Women

The Appleton YMCA will offer a series of courses for special interest and hobby groups as part of its new fall program.

The courses are in addition to those included in the women and girls, men and boys and swimming programs, and are open to both men and women or boys and girls.

They include horseback riding, youth hobby groups in archery, crafts and rifle shooting; a new bowling instruction clinic for children, youth and adult golf instructions, ballroom dancing and tennis instruction. Other programs are the Young Adults Club, the pre-school nursery, the Den and Teen Center for young people, and the "junior high cotillion" dancing course.

A new offering this fall is the bowling instruction clinic open to girls and boys 8 to 12 years of age. It will start at 11 a.m. Saturday in the YMCA gymnasium, and feature color movies and instruction by area bowlers. The children will use special small bowling balls. Leagues will be formed.

Horseback riding courses are planned for both young people and adults. The five-week course for boys and girls will start Saturday, with rides from 1 to 2 and 2 to 3 p.m. Saturdays and 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. Thursdays. Horseback riding for adults will be from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. Thursdays and 9 to 11 a.m. Fridays.

Philatelic Society to Start Meetings; New Officers Take Charge

The Outagamie Philatelic Society will resume its meetings tonight at Appleton City Hall, room 201, with a quiz.

New officers assuming duties at this meeting are Ralph Hoffmann, Neenah, president; Dr. Steve Darling, Appleton, vice president, and Jerome Miller, Neenah, secretary-treasurer.

Hoffmann is in charge of the program. The club meets the second Thursday of each month, September through May, and has programs planned for each session, including a number of speakers. Meetings start at 7:30 p.m.

Funds for New Armory Delayed Until Units Reach Full Strength

Appleton, Neenah Groups to Use Proposed Guard Building

Funds for construction of a proposed $500,000 National Guard armory in Appleton cannot be released until local units reach required strength, local guard officials said today.

A bill providing appropriations for the construction is before Congress. Guard spokesmen expect the measure will receive favorable action.

However, a Defense Department directive requires the release of funds in this category be withheld until each unit to be housed in the structure reaches required strength.

The proposed building in Appleton's industrial park on the city's west side eventually will be occupied by Headquarters and Headquarters Co., 2nd Brigade; Headquarters and Headquarters Co., 1st Bn., 127th Inf.; and Co. C, 1st Bn., 127th Inf. The latter unit currently is in Neenah, and the other two are in Appleton.

At least 15 more men are needed for the battalion headquarters company in Appleton, and 23 more are needed for the Neenah unit. Headquarters Company, 2nd Brigade, is up to strength.

When the three units reach their authorized strength, there will be almost 400 men utilizing the new structure.

If strength can be reached soon enough, it is anticipated by guard officials construction will begin this fall. Otherwise, officials said, work will not begin until the end of this year or early next year.

Land for the facility has been donated by the City of Appleton. The armory will be the largest to be built in the state since World War II and will be the state's second largest Army National Guard installation.

Included in the proposed building will be office and classroom space for the three units, offices for the U.S. Army advisor group, storage space and separate maintenance buildings. It also will have a rifle range, kitchen and drill floor.

Guard officials said they have begun a recruiting program in an attempt to bring the units to required strength.

Harrison School Has Record Enrollment In Kindergarten Class

SHERWOOD — Kindergarten, with 30 pupils, is the largest class at Harrison School.

The group, taught in the morning, is the largest since kindergarten was introduced at the school when it became part of the Kaukauna system.

Adding to its popularity this year is the transportation provided to and from school for students living more than two miles away.

Total enrollment is 94, the same as last year. Grades two and three have 15 pupils; three, four and five, 26 pupils and six and seven, 23 pupils. Eight hth graders attend school in Kaukauna.

Enrollment at Sacred Heart Catholic School was 180, unchanged from last year.

Kimberly School District Seeking Funds for Addition

KIMBERLY — Whether a $200,000 bond issue should be floated to finance an eight-room addition to Janssen School, Combined Locks, will be decided in an Oct. 6 referendum vote.

The referendum was approved by Joint School District No. 6 Board of Education in a special meeting here Wednesday.

The board said the addition is needed for the start of the 1965-66 school year. The $200,000 bond issue is expected to cover costs of construction, equipment, architect fees, legal fees and landscaping.

Future Expansion

Robert Surplice, Green Bay architect hired by the board, said the addition would be designed for easy extension of the addition.

Voting will be from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. in the lobby of the junior high school gymnasium. Advance registration is not necessary, but voters must be legally qualified.

Plans for the addition include addition of five classrooms, two kindergarten rooms and a central library. The board also has approved an architect's recommendation for installation of a standby boiler for the entire school to be in the new structure.

Municipal Employees Won't Get Preference in Use of City Hall Lot

Parking Commission Against Change of Policy; End of Meter Hood Issue Asked

Appleton City employees will not receive preferential treatment when parking in the city hall lot, the parking commission decided Wednesday night.

Whether city hall employees should get free parking in the adjacent lot was the first problem given the commission by the city council.

Under the policy adopted by the city several months ago, everyone must pay to park in the 38-space lot.

Some department heads and inspectors claim it is expensive parking for them and have advocated an adjustment in their municipal car allowance.

Before the city installed meters in the lot, it was open to the general public on a first come, first serve basis. There seldom was a parking space available in the lot after 9 a.m. daily.

History Reviewed

The controversial history of the lot was reviewed by the commission before the majority agreed the "everyone pays" policy should continue in effect.

Ald. Alvin E. Tews (5th) and Finance Director Donald Hassler said an arrangement should be worked out to provide parking for municipal employees that use their personal autos on city business, requiring them to be in and out of city hall.

Mayor Clarence Mitchell was strongly opposed to anyone, including himself, being granted special parking privileges.

May Concern City Clerk, Mayor Says

An executive session of the Appleton City Council, which Mayor Clarence Mitchell said could be presumed to be for "discussing the Broehm matter," has been scheduled for tonight.

Shortly after Mitchell set the special meeting, City Clerk Elden Broehm reaffirmed his withdrawal from the Outagamie County sheriff's race, and said he would sign a waiver taking his name off the ballot.

He had not been to the county clerk's office by early afternoon.

Tuesday, Broehm announced he would not seek the county post, but then told news men Wednesday he was studying election returns, and would not say whether he was withdrawing.

Broehm was arrested Friday by a Milwaukee vice squad policeman, and was fined $100 Saturday after pleading no contest to a charge of disorderly conduct.

Retirement Discussed by County Workers

Outagamie County courthouse employees met today to discuss new retirement policies for employees and the formation of a grievance committee.

Association President Raymond Klein said the employee's current retirement program "is the worst possible one for municipal employees." He said the employees have a choice of three programs under which to participate.

Klein also said the meeting would discuss the formation of a grievance committee to screen requests of employees which are to be brought to the attention of county board supervisors.

AHS Area Construction Not Causing Serious Problems

Construction in the Appleton High School area is not causing any serious traffic snarls during the first week of school, police and school officials report.

With Badger Avenue in front of the school closed to traffic, and parking due to a widening project, there had been some concern about a traffic problem developing when school started Tuesday. School buses are unloading on Winnebago Street. Appleton police assigned special patrolmen to the area, and school administration urged students to leave their cars at home if other transportation is available.

The situation worked itself out well, and no problems are expected, police said. There was some congestion in the unloading area, but students were very cooperative, they said.

Allowing For It

William Berner, AHS principal, also said things were working well. No excessive tardiness or other problems have been noted, he said.

"It will be awfully nice to have Badger Avenue open, but we are operating well," he said. "The students are getting in and out. They must be allowing for it."

Student parking does not seem to be backed up too far on side streets, Berner said. Faculty cars completely fill the school parking lot.

Berner said school officials will continue to urge students not to bring cars to school.

Suggest $112,000 Port Land Budget

Winnebago Unit Hears T. K. Jordan

OSHKOSH — Budgeting $112,000 as the county's share for additional land acquisition at the Winnebago County Airport has been suggested to the county board's aviation committee by T. K. Jordan, State Aeronautics Commission director.

Airport Manager Steve Wittman relayed that suggestion to the committee at its budget planning session Wednesday night. The committee will continue work on its budget on Sept. 24.

Wittman said he received a telephone call from Jordan in which the state aeronautics director suggested the county bid $112,000 as its share toward an estimated $284,000 land acquisition project for the airport. State and federal aid would provide the balance of the amount.

One of the proposed plans for expansion of the airport has been to secure land to the south for an eventual extension of the north-south runway to permit use of the airport by larger planes and jet planes.

Engineering Study Committee members directed Chairman Alvin Staffeld to contact Jordan for more information as to this proposed land acquisition expense and also as to the status of the airport runway marking project and the evaluation by the Federal Aviation Agency and State Aeronautics Commission on the engineering study made of the airport by the firm of Howard, Needles, Tammen and Bergendoff.

Jordan at a meeting here earlier this summer indicated the FAA evaluation would be made by Sept. 1.

The State Aeronautics Commission has been working on specification for the runway marking since early this year and the county wants to have the successful bidder mark the other runways at the airport.

Staffeld also is to contact Kimberly-Clark Corp. to learn what that firm wants done for the ramp and taxiway at its hangar so that this cost may be included in the proposed 1965 budget. The committee must have its budget ready for the finance committee by Sept. 30.

Committee members said they had unofficially heard that Kimberly-Clark Corp. would be securing a new jet airplane which might require a strengthening of the ramp area and taxiway into the hangar.

Other projects under consideration by the committee for which additional information is sought are the North Central Airlines quarters expansion in the airport terminal, expansion of the terminal parking lot and expansion of the terminal restaurant area.

These projects, committee members indicated, will hinge upon the decision of the Civil Aeronautics Board in the regional airport hearing. They doubted if any decision would be announced prior to the presidential election in November. By that time, the committee said, the county's 1965 budget already will have been passed.

Routine airport expenses were continued at about the same budgeted figure for next year except for the $6,500 provided this year for surveys and consultants. That work now is done and money probably will not be needed for such an expense next year.

Breaking, Entering Reported to Police

NEENAH — Van's Candy store, 111 W. Wisconsin Ave. was entered sometime during the night Tuesday, according to the police.

Discovery was made about 6 a.m. Wednesday by a cleaning woman, according to the report. Entry was made by breaking a small window in the rear door, and releasing the catch on the night lock, police said. Files and papers were gone through; however, nothing appeared to be missing, according to Edward Van Ryzin, owner. Everything was left in an orderly manner, according to the police.

Appleton Driver Hurt When Car Leaves Road

OSHKOSH — Edward Maloney, 28, 601 E. Coolidge St., Appleton, complained of a back injury after his car left County Trunk A and hit a tree. The accident happened about 1 1/2 miles south of Neenah at about 1:25 a.m. today.

Maloney was traveling north and fell asleep, he told Winnebago County police. He was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital by squad car.

Island Inn Takes Crown

Menasha '9' Tops Jitter-Joe's, 10-3, For Championship

MENASHA — Gauthier's Island Inn speared the championship of the Mid-State Open Softball League by topping Jitters and Joe's, 10-3, in the playoff Wednesday night at Jefferson Park.

Because the Jefferson diamond was less muddy than the Recreation field, its original site, the contest was played here.

The winners struck for three runs in the last of the first and were on top all the way. They didn't ice it, however, until Jack Ankerson, still awaiting action on his Army status, slugged a 3-run homer in the last of the sixth, giving them a 7-run lead.

A 15-hit attack and a trio of 3-run innings provided the victory. At the same time, Ed Simonson limited the Menashans to five hits. The latter had plenty of scoring opportunities but stranded nine baserunners, including three in the sixth. They had a potential fourth inning outburst cut down by a double play after the first two runners reached base.

The Islanders scored three times in the first on two hits, an error and two sacrifice flies, three in the third on six hits, one in the fifth on two safeties and three in the sixth with two hits preceding Ankerson's homer.

Neenah Man Gets Fine, Jail Term on Road Violation

NEENAH — Alfred Capelle, 29, 1002 1/2 S. Lake St., Neenah, was sentenced to 15 days in Winnebago County Jail for operating a motor vehicle without a valid driver's license; fined $50 and court costs or 15 days in jail on a second charge of failing to report an accident, and fined $15 or five days in jail for failing to stop for a stop sign by Judge James V. Sitter in Branch Three Court Wednesday.

Capelle, arrested in the 800 block of Adams Street Aug. 27 following an accident, pleaded nolo contendere (no contest) to each of the three charges. He rejected an offer from the court to contact an attorney.

Philip A. Frank, 19, 634 Jackson St., Neenah, was fined $20 and court costs after he pleaded guilty to failing to yield from a stop sign at Harrison Street and Winneconne Avenue Sept. 4 and causing an accident as a result of the action.

OSHKOSH — William Phillips, 37, 144 Main St., Menasha, today pleaded innocent of seven counts of worthless checks and asked for a six-man jury trial.

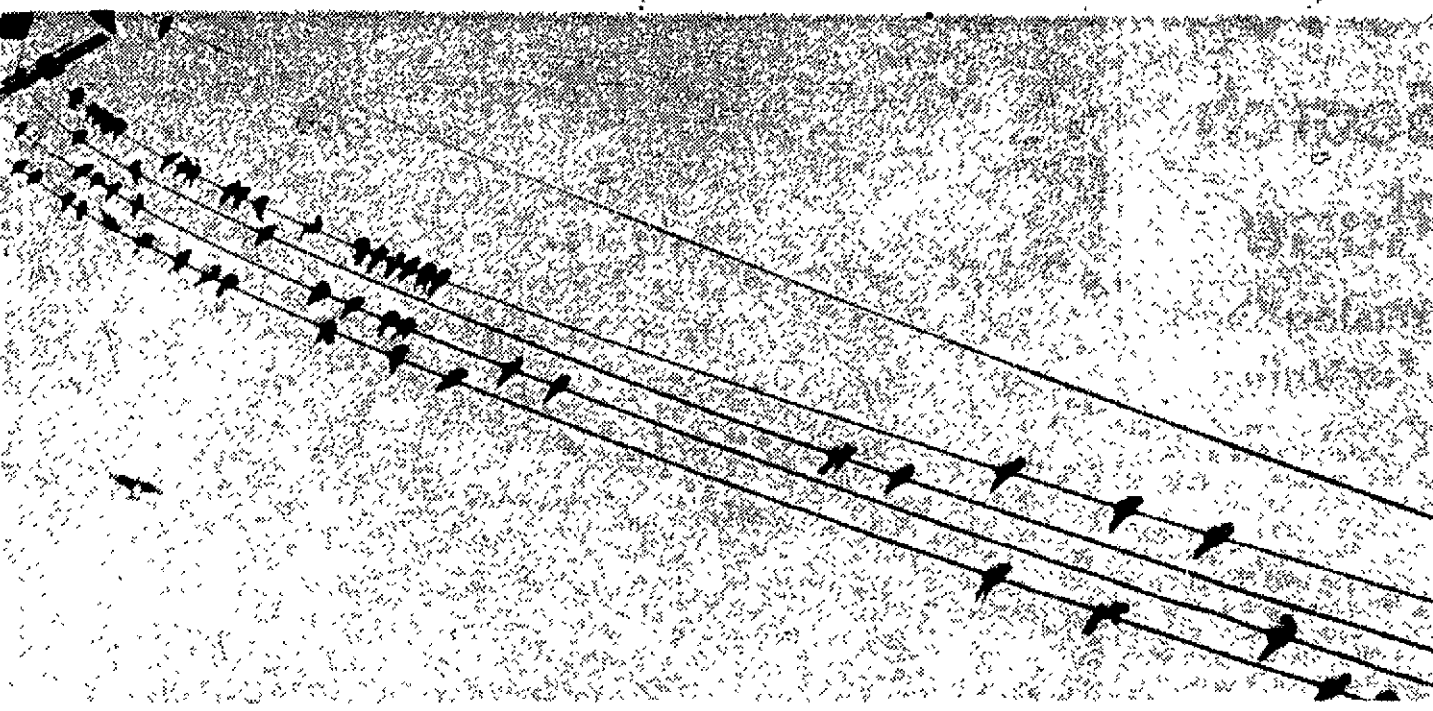

Further proceedings were set for Sept. 18 and bond was continued at $500. He had been arraigned Sept. 4 but proceedings were postponed while he consulted an attorney.

OSHKOSH — The Tri-City District of the Valley Council will conduct the Cub Scout Leaders' Roundtable and the Boy Scout Leaders' Roundtable at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at First Congregational Church.

The roundtable, a monthly service, provides adult leaders representing the institutions of Appleton and the Twin Cities who sponsor scouting with program ideas and gives assistance in planning next month's program.

The theme for the Cub Scout Roundtable is "Animals in Stories" and will feature puppetry. Assisting in this month's Roundtable, will be Pack 75, Lakeview School, Neenah; Pack 14, First Congregational Church, Menasha; and Pack 5, St. Therese Catholic Church, Appleton.

Theme for the Boy Scout Leaders' Roundtable will be "Hidden Trails," emphasizing mapping and compass work. Conducting this month's Roundtable will be Troop 9, St. Pius X Catholic Church; Troop 18, Richmond School, and First Congregational Church, all of Appleton. Demonstrations and projects will be conducted by Troop 43, First Methodist Church, Neenah.

The Return of the Swallows to Capistrano has been featured musically for years. These swallows will be departing shortly, heading south for the winter. While the picture should run vertically, turning it horizontally makes it look like a musical score. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Contractor Fined For Installation Of Heating System
NEENAH — Arland J. Larson, 31, route 1, Menasha, was fined $50 and court costs or 15 days in the Winnebago County jail by Judge James V. Sitter on a charge of installing a heating system at 505 E. Wisconsin Ave., Neenah, on Aug. 12 without having acquired a license from the city.

Larson pleaded nolo contendere (no contest) to the charge.

Emmett Garvey, 728 State St., Menasha, stipulated his guilt to a charge of disorderly conduct placed Sept. 6 and forfeited a $54.50 appearance bond.

Further proceedings were set for James Hoffman, 34, 110 Main St., Neenah, charged with disorderly conduct, on Sept. 29. Hoffman was arrested by Neenah police at 218 W. Wisconsin Ave.

Council to Have Closed Door Talks

them of the closed meeting which will start at 7 p.m.

The mayor, aldermen and City Atty. Frederick E. Froehlich will be the only persons at the executive meeting unless the council decides to call in Broehm.

Broehm said he was not aware that the mayor had called the meeting.

In Tuesday's primary election Broehm received 5,926 votes as the Republican candidate for sheriff while the incumbent, Calvin Spice, a Democrat, got 6,005 votes. Broehm ran far behind the county ticket.

Mayor Mitchell today said Broehm had not met with him since the incident over the weekend.

Broehm has given no indication he intends to give up the city clerk's position to which he was re-elected last April for a two-year term.

Some aldermen reportedly feel he should step down from the clerk's job.

It was learned Broehm also has called some aldermen to consult with them on recent events.

Once Broehm signs the declaration with the county clerk's office, his name will then be taken off the sheriff's ballot. He has until Sept. 22 to do so. It is definite the Republican party will then run another candidate, a party spokesman said Tuesday.

May Discuss Leave

After receiving word of Broehm's arrest, the mayor asked the city attorney for an informal legal opinion.

Had the charge against the clerk been classified as a felony, he would have had to quit his clerk's job automatically. State law says that anyone convicted of a felony cannot hold public office.

Some city officials have indicated privately that Broehm might consider a leave of absence.

It is expected many of these things will be discussed by the city council tonight.

In the meantime, local authorities have obtained a copy of the court record involving Broehm. The statement of the arresting officer reportedly is being obtained from the Milwaukee clerk of courts.

Broehm has been on the job every day this week and supervised Tuesday's election. He has been city clerk for the past nine years and was unopposed for re-election this year.

In his typed statement to newsmen, Broehm said this morning he decided to withdraw from the sheriff's race and made other comments.

"That race this year promises to be a close and hard-fought contest and I feel that any blemish upon my reputation as a law-abiding citizen would place an extra burden on the efforts of my many friends and supporters," Broehm said. He continued:

"All of my friends know that I have always considered the interests of the Republican Party to be more important than the desires or ambitions of any one man. I do not want to jeopardize the party's success in November.

"Some of my friends have urged that my plea of 'nolo contendere' was by no means an admission of guilt and have asked me to bear out all of the facts so that some of the unjust implications could be removed, but I know that that would take a long time and I have decided that the best interests of the Republican Party would not be served, thereby, and consequently I am withdrawing my name."

Several Outagamie County board committees of supervisors will begin closed-door meetings today with representatives of the J. L. Jacobs Co., a Chicago efficiency study firm.

To be discussed will be proposed wage hikes and personnel policies which the firm will recommend to the county board sometime in October.

Taking part in the meetings will be the courts and administration committee, the traffic committee, the highway committee, the health education and welfare committee, and the property and insurance committee.

Public School Enrollment Up

Kaukauna Reports Late Registration Shows 2,530 Pupils

KAUKAUNA — Late registrations in the public school system has raised enrollment in schools to 2,530, an increase of 212 over the 2,318 recorded in September last year, according to figures released Wednesday by Julian Bichler, superintendent of schools.

Park School enrollment, which includes grades kindergarten through six, increased from 446 to 524, up 78 students. Late registrations amounted to 60 students whereas an enrollment of 18 was anticipated in August of this year.

Nicolet School enrollment in grades kindergarten through fourth, increased 37 to 519 from the 1963 figure of 482. Of the 37 increase, 33 were late registrations. Harrison School enrollment, grades one through seven, numbered 94, one less than last year.

Junior High School enrollment increased 27 from 143 in 1963 to 170 in 1964. Of the total increase, 11 were late registrations. High School enrollment for 1964 is 1,222, an increase of 68 students over the 1963 figure of 1,154. Of the increase, 14 were late registrations.

Teachers Show Training Session Has Importance

COMBINED LOCKS — Teachers at Janssen School, Combined Locks, were really impressed by one of the in-service training speakers prior to the start of the school year as evidenced by a bulletin board erected by the faculty.

The speaker, James Dornoff, sales representative of Humble Oil Co., addressed teachers from throughout the area at a Menasha "in-service training" session. His talk centered around enthusiasm and he advised teachers to remind themselves each morning to start the day by being enthusiastic.

The bulletin board captioned, "We Work Together," shows a family of beavers building a dam with logs marked "May I Help," "Your Turn," "Please," and "Thank You." Logs are brown colored in keeping with the color of the dam, but one beaver in the middle carries a birch log of white bearing the saying, "Boy, Am I Enthusiastic."

Stock Market Moves Higher

Auto Shares Firm After Period of Uneasiness Today

NEW YORK (AP) — Motors began to firm after early uneasiness and the stock market moved irregularly higher early this afternoon. Trading was fairly active.

The auto stocks seemed disconcerted at the start by prospects of further hard bargaining for labor contracts at Ford and General Motors.

As stocks refused to give ground, confidence increased.

Ford ran into active buying and spurred more than a point.

Chrysler erased a small early loss and showed a fractional net gain.

But some high flyers were hit hard by long-term profit-taking.

IBM at one phase was down more than 10 points to a 1964 low of 425.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .1 at 320.6 with industrials and rails unchanged and utilities up .2.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which has made historic closing peaks in the last two sessions, was up .79 to 856.36 at noon.

GM halved an early 1-point loss. IBM pared its worst loss by about 2 points. Sentiment about IBM was cooled somewhat because of increasing competition in the computer field.

Control Data, down more than 3, was another heavy loser.

Steels, after a firm start, turned mixed. Bethlehem eased and U.S. Steel was about unchanged.

Sears, Roebuck, which reported record profits, traded consistently at a 1-point gain. Boeing, Du Pont, U.S. Smelting and Xerox also rose a point or so.

New York Central pushed ahead nearly a point.

The advance was patchy. Phelps Dodge and Comsat slipped more than a point apiece.

Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange in moderate trading.

Packer Show Prelude to Bear Clash

Last year Green Bay won nationwide notice in the unlikely surroundings of book stores and literary reviews.

The reason for that notice was the remarkable book "Run to Daylight" which plumbed the depths of a coach's mind in the preparation of a professional football team for a game — a chance to run to daylight.

That man, of course, was Vince Lombardi, coach of the highly respected Green Bay Packers he had pulled out of several seasons in the doldrums.

This was more than a technical handbook, it was also something akin to an articulate pronouncement of a philosophy — a way of life.

Season's Preparation

Last night an attempt to update and visualize the seed of this remarkable book aired on TV's Channel 2 proved to be an equally remarkable television program.

Instead of the preparation of the Packers for a game, the TV show revealed the preparation of the Packers and their raw rookies for a season. Again it was something of a technical handbook, but, again, the spirit of

Soviet News Agency Often Has A Rose-Colored View of Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet news agency Tass often presents a rosy picture of the way things are going in the Soviet Union, while emphasizing troubles the rest of the world is having.

Although papers here frequently publish stories about Soviet crime, corruption, bureaucratic inefficiency and other domestic problems, such items seldom find their way onto the Tass wire.

Story Subjects
On a typical day, for example, Moscow daily papers, published stories on the following subjects:

- Soda vending machines that don't work
- Lax controls that encourage embezzlers of state property.
- Complaints about spotty press coverage of new technical developments
- Shortcomings in glassware production.
- Failures to deliver gasoline processing equipment to a new refinery.

Black market of hard-to-get motorcycles

Factory directors who force workers to put in overtime without pay in order to fulfill monthly plan targets.

A young man convicted on charges of illegally selling study aids to students preparing for university entrance exams.

Late deliveries of construction materials for the Tyumen oil fields in Siberia.

Poor Taste
Poor taste and inefficiency in city planning and architecture. Smolensk industrial enterprises which consistently fall short of production plans

Poor organization of working hours of Soviet army officers.

Criticism of army officers' behavior

Two burglars apprehended by an army officer.

Sugar beet crop failures in the Penza district.

And two stinging anti-alcoholism pieces.

None of the stories appeared on the Tass domestic or foreign wires.

However, similar items from the West are eagerly passed through the agency's two-way censorship screen to make up the bulk of its foreign news coverage.

News Agency
The government-run news agency also gives heavy play to Western labor strikes, accidents and disasters and political troubles.

Tass fulfills its assigned role as chronicler of the Soviet march to communism by churning out a seemingly endless stream of glowing reports of new economic and social achievements.

Scientific news gets good play, particularly in technical fields such as rocketry and space research.

Occasionally editorial enthusiasm

asm for propagandizing Soviet science leads them into repeating phony stories like the one last year about a deep-frozen prehistoric chameleon that came alive after it was thawed out.

Foreign Visitors

Favorable comment about the Soviet Union by foreign visitors and tourists is transmitted in bulk quantities on the overseas wire to foreign subscribers.

One of Tass' main functions is laying down the latest Kremlin line on important policy matters in the form of Tass statements, commentaries, and party-government documents.

Tass, therefore, is carefully studied abroad for switches or modifications of Soviet policies. Occasionally the agency mounts a major campaign to offset propaganda setbacks such as that arising from the African students' Red Square demonstration last year.

Tass originally ignored the event but issued an official explanation of the incident a few days later.

Happy Lot

Then it began turning out stories picturing the happy lot of foreign students in the Soviet Union and denouncing the Western press for playing up the incident in Africa and the rest of the world.

The agency now is engaged in an all-out assault on the Communist Chinese, devoting several articles daily to polemical attacks on Peking.

It also appears to be attempting to counter Chinese and Western charges of Soviet imperialism and colonialism with a spate of pieces intended to impress foreigners with the progress made in the central Asian republics.

In recent years, Tass' directors have made determined efforts to streamline their cumbersome operation in the fashion of the major Western news agencies.

News Breaks
Major foreign news breaks are being reported on the Tass wire with considerably less delay than formerly. These reports usually are short and factual and without comment.

Later, when the Kremlin policy line has been laid down, expanded stories containing the official Soviet viewpoint are moved on the wire. Tass also tries to be first with important domestic developments, but Western reporters often beat them on live stories such as Soviet Premier Khrushchev's speeches.

The practice of summarizing major Soviet documents and speeches before transmitting their texts has also arisen in recent years.

Hilarity Object of Stunt For Nonsense-Minded Group

BY CAPPY DICK

Today's stunt can produce some very funny results when it is undertaken by all the members of the family, or all the guests at a party.

Give each player a plain piece of paper and a sheet from a recent issue of the newspaper. A pot or two of paste and several pairs of scissors will be needed, also.

Tell each player he is to cut from his newspaper page several paragraphs, or parts of paragraphs, all unrelated, and assemble them to make the funniest reading matter he can create.

The player must paste his clippings together on his piece of blank paper so that they look like one complete newspaper article, but, when read aloud, make a lot of nonsense instead of sense.

When the paste-ups have been completed, the players pass them to the right and one by one they are read out loud. The results are certain to be hilarious. (Copyright, 1964)

May Set Date For Vote on Rail Merger

CHICAGO (AP) — Directors of the Chicago and North Western Railway and the Chicago Great Western Railway will hold separate meetings today to approve a formal agreement for merger of the two carriers.

The directors are also expected to set dates for shareholders of the two railroads to meet and vote on the proposed union.

Terms of North Western's offer of a merger with the Great Western were accepted by the Great Western directors July 24.

Share Exchange
The offer provides that North Western exchange 3/4ths of a share of North Western for each of Great Western's 365,740 outstanding shares of preferred.

North Western also is to issue 7-10th of a share of its common stock for each of 393,503 shares of Great Western common stock outstanding.

This means Great Western shareholders would receive 274,305 shares of North Western preferred and 275,452 shares of North Western common stock. Common shareholders of Great Western in addition would be paid $3 million in cash by the North Western.

Omaha and the Minneapolis-St. Paul gateways. Spokesmen for the two lines said duplicate trackage would be eliminated through the merger.

The North Western operates about 10,000 miles of tracks from Chicago to Lake Superior ore ports and west to Lander, Wyo. The Great Western has 1,458 miles of track serving Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, and Minnesota.

The proposed merger would provide the North Western entry to the Kansas City gateway.

Costs of Living Could Creep Further Upward

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Your cost of living today is at the highest levels in history and it will creep upward to still loftier peaks in the foreseeable future.

There is nothing on the economic horizon now to reverse this basic trend. There are no policies which reasonably could be adopted by either a Democrat or a Republican in the White House that would result in lowering living costs across the board.

The buying power of your dollar today is at the lowest level ever and it will shrink more in the foreseeable future.

There is nothing on the economic horizon now to reverse this basic trend either. Nor are there policies which reasonably could be pursued by either President Johnson or Sen. Goldwater — should he become President — that would make the dollar buy more.

For your own financial well-being, it is imperative that you understand these hard facts and forecasts about living costs and the U.S. dollar — particularly in these weeks when 1964's election oratory will encourage distortion, exaggeration, befuddlement.

Key Point

A first key point is that the pace of rise in living costs and of decline in the dollar's buying power has slowed to a creep in recent years. In the past 12 months, the erosion has been only a bit over 1 per cent — equivalent to stability in our dynamic society. We are still living in a remarkably prolonged period of extraordinary price and dollar stability. Our great challenge in coming months will be keeping the erosions as modest as they have been.

A second key point is that the incomes of the vast majority of Americans are rising much faster than prices — and only a minor force forced to live on fixed incomes are being hurt by the price-dollar trends. Our dollar gains from climbing paychecks, dividends, other forms of income — plus tax cuts — dwarf our dollar losses from price increases. Since 1953, for instance, the average income of U.S. families has soared 88 per cent while prices have risen 27 per cent.

Living Costs

A third key point is that most of the rise in living costs in this era has been in service prices. Meanwhile, prices of many goods have been holding or declining — and the quality of the goods has been sharply improved. We are using more services than ever before and paying more for them, because our standard of living is increasing, our demands are becoming more sophisticated — and many services defy automation.

Why do I flatly predict that living costs will continue to climb, the dollar's buying power will continue to shrink — and our challenge will be keeping the erosions under control? A first reason why lies in our own prosperity. Our personal incomes are up a huge $27 billion over a year ago, are running at an annual rate of $491 billion-plus. We have earnings to spend, savings to draw on, credit to use. This is hardly a background against which businessmen voluntarily post widespread price reductions.

A second reason why lies in the persistent upswing in wages and salaries. Although the mounting efficiency of their operations permits many corporations to absorb the wage hikes and still earn handsome profits, the rising wage costs put a floor under prices.

Advancing Prices A third reason why lies in the advancing prices of key basic metals and materials which U.S. industry uses to make finished goods. The price hikes are scattered, but they are real — and they are sticking. As our factories and plants move toward capacity output, the pressures will be on the side of accelerating the rise in living cost.

Could the price-dollar trends be reversed? Policies bringing on a severe depression might achieve this (a mild recession wouldn't). It's unthinkable that any modern-day President or Congress would deliberately adopt programs threatening a general slump!

A worldwide deflation, caused by a lack of credit to finance expansion, might achieve it. Right now, the financial leaders of the free world are working together to make sure this doesn't happen.

It will may be that gradually rising living costs and a gradually shrinking buying power for the dollar are the "prices" we must pay for record prosperity, employment, paychecks and profits.

Auto Demolished In One-Car Crash Near Waupaca

WAUPACA — A car driven by William Holden, 312 W. Sixth St., Oshkosh, was demolished Monday afternoon in a one-car mishap on County Trunk HH one mile north of U.S. 10.

The car missed a curve, ran into a ditch, hit a telephone pole, a sign, two trees and then the end of a culvert before landing on its top. After the crash, Holden, who was not injured, left the scene before the investigating officer arrived, police said. He later turned himself over to Winnebago County authorities at Oshkosh, they said. He will be returned to Waupaca where he will face charges of leaving the scene of an accident.

In a one-car crash Sunday, Donald J. Keffner, 36, route 1, Weyauwega, suffered face cuts when his car struck a telephone pole four miles east of Waupaca on State 54.

Keffner who was traveling west at the time of the crash which occurred at about 2:30 a.m. told police he fell asleep. The 1955 model car was demolished.

Tshombe and World Are Still Faced With Same Old Congo

Defeat Is From Same Enemies Which Frustrated All Leaders

BY LYNN HEINZERLING

LONDON (AP) — Moïse Tshombe is not going to make his deadline for showing the world a new Congo in three months.

The flamboyant, fast-talking secessionist leader from Katanga took office as premier in Leopoldville July 10 with the brash promise to reform Africa's problem child. With one month to go, Tshombe and the world are still faced with the same old Congo — sullen, rebellious and dangerous.

Tshombe has added one new and refreshing ingredient to the Congolese stew, a political leader who is constantly on the move and who acts His stated objectives for the Congo — national reconciliation, prosperity and peace — are beyond reproach.

Energetic Leader

The Congolese central government has not seen a leader with his energy and dash since the unhappy days of the late Premier Patrice Lumumba.

But Tshombe is being defeated by the same enemies that have frustrated the Congo's leaders from the beginning of independence four years ago — tribal hatreds, political immaturity, corruption and apathy.

With or without the assistance of the Organization of African Unity, these are formidable foes. Most of Africa's leaders are fighting the same enemies at home with varying success.

The situation Tshombe faces is similar to that shortly after independence when rebellions, largely tribal in origin, broke out in Kasai, Katanga, Kivu and Oriental provinces. In Katanga and Kasai there was the added motive of great mineral riches. At that time, Tshombe was take Katanga Province out of the republic and set up a separate state. The United Nations' military force in the Congo finally ended Katanga's pretensions.

Unified Congo
Tshombe, now dedicated to a unified Congo, is at present facing rebellions in Kivu, North Katanga, Kivu and Oriental provinces. Stanleyville, one of the country's most important cities, is in rebel hands.

Red Chinese diplomats and agents openly are supporting the rebels with money and advice on guerrilla tactics. They have been operating through rebel headquarters established in Brazzaville and Bujumbura with the complacent assent of the Congo's neighbors, the Congo Republic and Burundi.

Nationalist Leaders
Reliable word received from Bujumbura is that the Red Chinese mission there has grown from seven members two months ago to 27 members. Red influence has grown to the point where at a recent diplomatic function the Burundi chief of protocol gave the Red Chinese ambassador precedence over the Belgian ambassador, dean of the corps, and the U.S. ambassador.

African nationalist leaders have criticized the United States for supporting Tshombe's central government after opposing him when he was trying to take Katanga out of the Congo. A small number of U.S. transport planes and trucks have been placed at the disposal of the Congolese national army. Washington says there has been no reversal of U.S. policy in the Congo. From the first day of independence, Washington has worked and spent its money for a united Congo, strong and prosperous enough to fill a strategic area in the heart of Africa.

Working alone and through the United Nations, the United States sought to keep the Congo from becoming a pawn in the cold war.

Katanga President

As president of Katanga from 1960 to 1963, Tshombe was desperately trying to destroy Congolese unity by taking Katanga out of the republic. If he had succeeded, the Congo would have faced a bleak economic future.

Now, Tshombe, as premier of the central government, is trying to achieve what Washington wants — national unity, political reconciliation and peace. Tshombe has reversed himself.

U.S. military men in the Congo are well aware of the pitfalls which lurk in the primitive forests of the Congo. They do not want to see another Vietnam develop in Africa.

What is going on in the Congo — less provinces is not war in the accepted sense. It is a kind of intertribal mayhem which has been practiced in the Congo for centuries.

Deliberately Provoked

It has a particularly menacing significance now because it is being deliberately provoked by political dissidents supported by Chinese Communists. It should be alarming enough to alert all the so-called non-aligned nations of Africa. Instead, most of them have been extremely calm about it and some have even supported the dissidents. It has been estimated the rebels hold as much as a sixth of the Congo's 900,000 square miles.

The real losers are the patient and backward people of the Congo. They have been waiting four years for the bloodshed to cease and the independent Congo to produce the prosperity and peace promised by their leaders.

White Soldiers

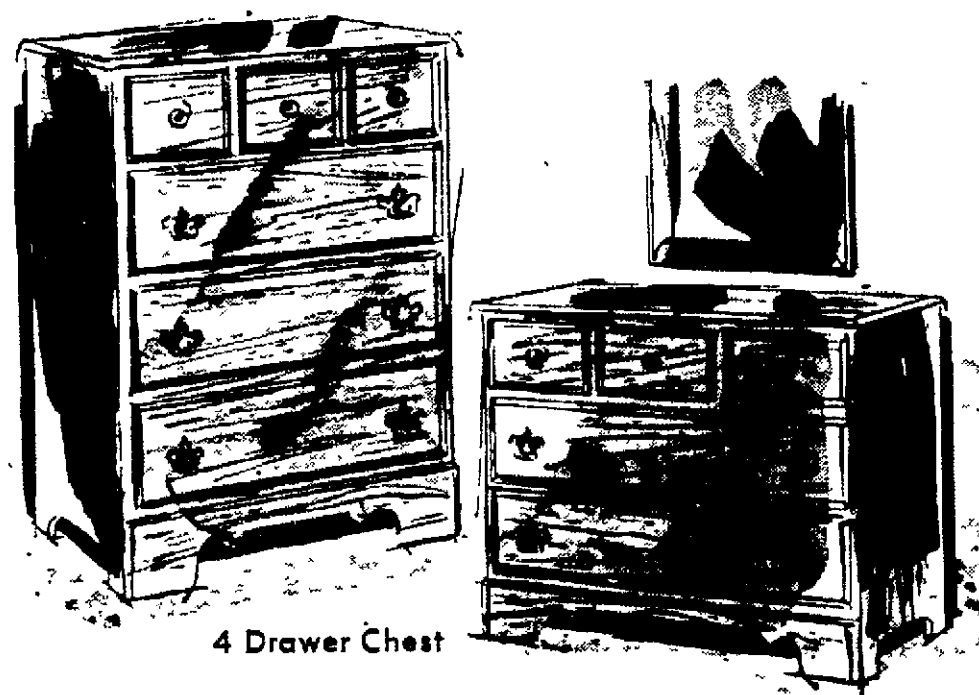

The white soldiers and fliers recruited by Tshombe offend African leaders, even though some of them have brought in white troops to put down mutinies. They will not offend the Congolese if tranquility can be restored. They are accustomed to foreign soldiers. They had the Belgians with them for more than half a century.

The Congo potentially is one of Africa's rich nations, but it has been chained down by the excesses of its political leaders. All the strength of the central government has been diverted for four years to trying to impose a military solution on a problem which essentially is social and economic.

Arab Leaders Seeking End of Yemen Strife

Approve Military Program Aiming at Israeli Showdown

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt (AP) — Arab leaders sought a solution of the Yemen civil war Wednesday after approving a military program to strengthen their armies for an eventual showdown with Israel.

While the military program fell far short of the initial demands of their military commander, Gen. Aly Aly Amer of the United Arab Republic, it did provide for a gradual buildup and an annual fund of $14 million for new equipment.

With their military problems at least temporarily swept aside after four days of often heated talks, the leaders of the 13 Arab states hoped to end their second summit session Thursday.

Water Diversion Project

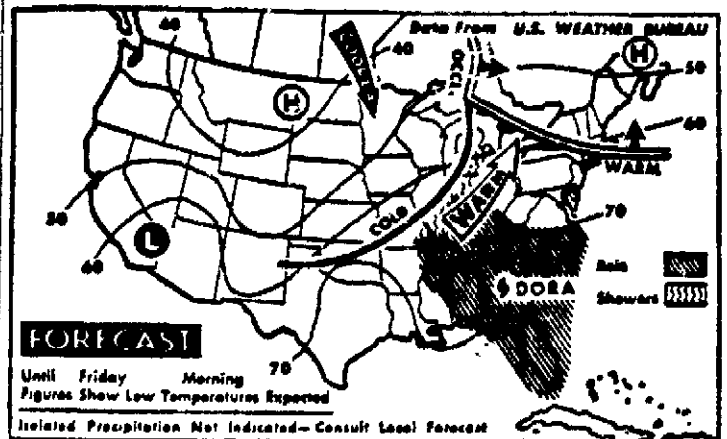

Arab League Secretary-General Abdel Khalek Hassouna reportedly believes military progress is sufficient for a beginning to be made immediately on Arab plans to divert the waters of the Jordan River so Israel cannot divert part to irrigate the Negev Desert.

This $200-million plan is dependent on the creation of an Arab military force sufficient to repel the attack which Israel has threatened if her water supplies are menaced.

Failure of the Arab leaders to agree on vital elements of Amer's recommendations is taken to mean the timetable for the Arab water projects will be delayed.

The most essential element lacking from the military agreement was a provision to permit stationing troops from other Arab countries in Syria, Jordan and Lebanon, to create an effective screen against Israeli retaliation.

Lebanese President Charles Helou, although he has only a small, ineffective army, refused to accept foreign troops.

Hurricane Dora Will Bring moderate to heavy rain to the southeast and the central Gulf coast states Thursday night. Showers and thundershowers are expected in the Lakes region and the Ohio and Tennessee valleys. It will be cooler from the north and central Plains to the Lakes area and warmer in the central Appalachians and the middle Atlantic states. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Indian Prime Minister Hitting Political Snags

NEW DELHI India (AP) — later this week on a motion of no confidence against the prime minister.

The Congress party's big majority assures the defeat of the motion, but Congress members themselves were voicing some of the harshest criticism hurled at Shastri.

Congress member A.C. Guha of West Bengal declared the nation's reserves of food grains are gone and the food situation is the worst since the great Bengal famine killed millions in 1943.

The prime minister's opponents in the party hierarchy are grumbling that he is not tough enough to control the situation. This was the main argument of rightwinger Morarji Desai when he contested the selection of Shastri as Nehru's successor.

Desai, known for his toughness, is again being mentioned as the man to take over.

Other Turmoil

There is other turmoil. Communists stalked out of the Uttar Pradesh legislature during an argument over charges of election irregularities that have thrown the Congress machine into an uproar.

The governor of Orissa State tendered his resignation to take responsibility for invasion of the legislature by students throwing rocks.

Food demonstrations continue throughout India. Rival groups of Kashmiri nationalists brawled in the streets of Srinagar.

Much of northern India is covered by the worst floods in 40 years.

Sources close to Shastri say he is planning stern action.

By the end of the week he is

Good Politics to Describe Opponent As 'Trigger-Happy'

WASHINGTON — President Johnson says that "there is no such thing as a conventional nuclear weapon." But it is unfortunately true that, if a conventional war is started in Europe it cannot be won by the West without the use of some of the smaller nuclear weapons.

The real issue in the debate is being avoided by the use of campaign hyperboles. It is supposed to be good politics to tell the American people that any man, when elected president, might have a nervous finger on the nuclear trigger. This assumes that military operations are going to be directed hereafter by a president in the White House and not by a supreme military commander of experience who faces the enemy directly on the battlefield.

The discussion concerning the kind of weapons to use in a conventional war — that is, a possible invasion across the continent of Europe — has been going on for the last three years. It has led to a momentous decision by President de Gaulle of France that he can no longer depend upon the United States to protect his country against attack and that he must have a nuclear arsenal of his own. The French fully understand the reluctance of the United States to put its nuclear weapons at the disposal of other governments. But at the same time, France is willing to have the American military commander of NATO forces in Europe given such control.

Military Men

Military men generally point out that, in the event of a land attack in Europe, it might take too much time to get proper instructions from the White House, and that a Soviet invasion would by then have reached such proportions that only a massive nuclear response would be able to prevent defeat. Once such a massive retaliation does occur, of course, a nuclear war of mammoth proportions will have been started. It is precisely to avoid such a nuclear holocaust that the military men have advocated the use of small tactical nuclear weapons, some of which have not much more firepower than conventional weapons of the past but a longer range. These could be used to frustrate the offensive operations of a land army.

What the military men fear most is that they may not be able to get a decision from the president of the United States promptly enough to rearrange their troops, and also that the front-line situation may be mistakenly assessed by the president and his advisers, far removed from the battle area.

Tactical Weapons

One of the tactical nuclear weapons is similar in appearance to a large recoilless rifle. It carries a very low-yield nuclear warhead, designed to knock out a bridge, for instance, but not a city. This is known as the "Davy Crockett."

There are other nuclear weapons — among them two rockets known as the "honest John" and the "Little John" — which are essentially artillery pieces for the aid of ground armies and are tailored to special battlefield conditions. This is one reason why Senator Goldwater says these could really be called "conventional weapons, as they take the place of artillery. They are confined to ground operations and not to long-range strategic attack such as is envisaged for the big nuclear bombs.

One of the most interesting phases of the problem was recently emphasized by General of the Army Ailleret, chief of staff of the armed forces of France, in a lecture delivered before the annual assembly of the NATO College in Europe. He said:

"If aggression occurred without any warning — that is, without very important measures of concentration on the part of the enemy — the ratio of forces would be about three to two in favor of the Soviets in big land units, and the imbalance would be even greater in the realm of supporting and pursuit planes. Moreover, the effect of surprise would come into full play because the Soviet attack force would find itself faced with a defense force only in process of being put in place."

General Ailleret declared that the expedient moment to use tactical nuclear weapons must be found as soon as possible after the enemy forces cross the Iron Curtain. He added:

Double Disasters
"If it comes only after the Soviets have invaded half of Europe, the destruction from this is over, it seems likely that, no matter who is elected president, some arrangement will have to be made which will give discretionary authority to the supreme commander of forces in Europe — an American — so that he can take prompt action whenever the enemy starts an invasion. The mere fact that such instructions would be known to have been given in advance could prove to be a deterrent of far-reaching significance.

Some day, when the campaign is over, it seems likely that, no matter who is elected president, some arrangement will have to be made which will give discretionary authority to the supreme commander of forces in Europe — an American — so that he can take prompt action whenever the enemy starts an invasion. The mere fact that such instructions would be known to have been given in advance could prove to be a deterrent of far-reaching significance.

Pipe Project Is Completed

Water Now Runs to New Buildings in High Cliff Park

SHERWOOD — Work on the pipeline project at High Cliff State Park was completed Friday, according to manager John Franzen.

Water was piped from the new well at the park's upper level to the new buildings at lakeshore. More than 100 gallons a minute, is now available alleviating the water problems experienced when temporary wells were in use.

Hot and cold water showers can be taken in both bathhouses for nominal cost. Franzen said it was necessary to install meters on the showers to stop unnecessary water use.

Water fountains also were included in the recent improvements.

Franzen said another record attendance year almost is completed. He estimated attendance will reach 500,000.

Maine Girl Wins Island in Contest

SOUTH PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — Like to own a desert island? A South Portland girl has won one.

West Brown Cow Island — once owned by the late Adm.

Robert E. Peary, discoverer of the North Pole — is in Maine's Casco Bay, four miles from the mainland.

There isn't even a tree on the two-acre rock. Just grass and scrub growth.

"It looks like a whale," says Madelene A. Hourihan, 22, a secretary who won the island in a contest sponsored by a car dealer.

Pop Singer Ethel Ennis Discovered at Newport

Baltimore Jazz Vocalist Headed for Fame, Fortune After 14 Years on Club Circuit

BY KATHIE DIBELL
BALTIMORE (AP) — An exciting singer named Ethel Ennis is hoping to rival the late Billie Holiday as Baltimore's leading contribution to the world of jazz.

Miss Ennis until recently was relatively unknown, except to a few connoisseurs of American jazz, and her loyal local following.

Then in July, Miss Ennis appeared at the Newport Jazz Festival with such stars as Louis Armstrong and Dave Brubeck.

After 14 years on the small club circuit, the 31-year-old Negro vocalist was discovered. Almost immediately she was booked at outstanding clubs in Chicago and New York. She was asked to appear on television shows. New record albums were cut for release later this year.

Called Second Ella, Various described as a second Ella Fitzgerald, Sarah Vaughn or Peggy Lee, Miss Ennis tags herself a "progressive pop singer."

"I hate to sing any song exactly as it's written. That's progressive. But I don't want to sing too far out so that people don't understand it," she said recently at the West Baltimore club where she has worked off and on for the past nine years.

Although jazz is her forte, Miss Ennis also likes what she calls the better rock 'n' roll that leaves at the end of next week.

numbers. "The ones that used to be called rhythm and blues, but since the whites are doing it, we call it rock 'n' roll."

"I prefer the ballads, the torchy things, the ones every day people feel.

Subtle Spirituals
"I would love to do an album of spiritual songs. It would be subtle. I'm a Methodist and the album would have none of this screaming and hollering bit."

The daughter of a Baltimore baker, Miss Ennis started her musical career with piano lessons when she was 7.

"I hated it. I always wanted to be a ballerina. But my grandparents said I'd be dancing with the devil. Now I'm singing with him," she said.

Toured With Goodman
She is no stranger to the big bands. In 1958, Miss Ennis toured Europe with Benny Goodman's orchestra. The tour included appearances at the Brussels World's Fair.

She loved Europe, but she didn't like the big band.

"I'm not a projectionist. I like the small rooms," she said. Casually sultry, she picks her way softly through a song.

She seems to ignore the crowd during blues numbers. Her head is bowed. Her eyes are partly closed.

Offstage, she is a vivacious, warm person — intensely ambitious but not overtly aggressive.

Her husband, Jacques E. Leeds, is a lawyer, the first Negro assistant attorney general in Maryland. They have no children.

Newport gave her a start and she hopes she's on her way.

Viet Nam War Related in Pilot's Words

BY TV SCOUT

8:30-9:30 (Channel 11) — The Daring American, a series of specials about heroes and heroines, leads off with "Letters From Viet Nam," a dramatic documentary described by producer Gregory Shuker as "the first reality war movie ever made." The hero is Lt. Gary Ramage, and his tape recorded "letters" home to his wife form the basis for the story.

9:30-10 (Channel 11) — A Conversation With Mrs. Goldwater marks Peggy Goldwater's second television appearance in two days. This conversation, with ABC's John Rolfsen, was taped last Monday in the Goldwater's Arizona home.

7-8 (Channel 2) — Rawhide's "Incident of the Pale Rider" has some good scenes and some good acting, but the story doesn't leave you much choice. You either have to guess the solution, or believe in ghosts. (Repeat)

7:30-8 (Channel 11) — My Three Sons has a charming and funny show. Steve misinterprets the family's eagerness at a chance to go to Hawaii, so he plans to sell the house and move there permanently. (Repeat)

7:30-8:30 (Channel 4-5) — Dr. Kildare begins a two-parter with equal portions of romance and therapeutical drama. Yvette Mimieux, who gives a beguiling performance, is one of those sleek, bikkini'd golden girls who wants to be best at everything. But Dick Chamberlain finds she has the form of epilepsy called Petit Mal. (Repeat)

8-9 (Channel 2) — A nasty, opportunistic television producer gets his just deserts on Perry Mason, and there are suspects galore. The one the police favor is Mason's client, a scriptwriter (Linden Chiles) who is in the center of a mound of circumstantial evidence. (Repeat)

8:30-9 (Channel 4-5) The New Christy Minstrels have a "vacation" at the Pacific Ocean Park, Santa Monica, Calif., with an assist from comic Fred Smoot. (Color)

9-10 (Channel 4-5) — Kraft Suspense Theater begins an effective two-parter, "The Case Against Sergeant Ryker." Lee Marvin is Ryker, sentenced to hang as a Korean War traitor, although he insists his infiltration behind enemy lines was an intelligence mission. It falls to Bradford Dillman, the court-martial prosecutor, to investigate, and he is led to a bodiless grave and the displeasure of his superior officers. (Color) (Repeat)

9-10 (Channel 2) — The Nurses has a welcome change-of-pace, a story with a light touch, some genuine humor and a good performance from Elaine Stritch as "The Witch of the East Wing." (Repeat)

'The Visit' Fails in Its Movie Form

BY BOB THOMAS

"The Visit" is an arresting failure. It fails on a number of counts, one of them basic.

As chillingly played on the stage by Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne, "The Visit" was a horror study of human depravity. An immensely wealthy woman returns to her home town to pay back the man who was her first lover and ruined her life. She offers the townspeople riches to kill the man, a respected citizen. Slowly overcome by greed, they set out to do so.

The shadowy witchcraft of the theater was able to create an aura of reality. But the monstrousness of her scheme is scarcely believable in literal treatment on the screen. Or perhaps it is difficult to imagine Ingrid Bergman, playing a woman of 37 and looking it at 46 capable of such a thing.

"The Visit" was a tri-nation production directed by a German with a cast headed by a Swede and Mexican-Irish Anthony Quinn. The international stew lacks the consistent flavor necessary to give credibility to its heartless theme.

Capt. Pat Gannaway, head of the police department's special service bureau and detectives T. T. Wardlaw and M. H. Brumley.

Guinn was one of six persons arrested near the Trade Mart shortly after the assassination. Police said they were waving anti-Kennedy signs. They were held four days for investigation. Guinn said a trespassing charge against him was dismissed and he filed the suit to recover "lost income."

State Senator Of 12 Years Is Rejected

O'Brien Only One Of Five Incumbents To Lose in Primary

BY HARVEY BREUSCHER Associated Press Staff Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Sen. Leo P. O'Brien of Green Bay, a veteran of 12 years in the Wisconsin Legislature and the chairman of one of its major committees, was rejected by primary voters Tuesday in his bid for Republican nomination to a fourth term.

The 71-year-old senator was the lone member of a group of five incumbents—all of them Republicans—to lose to a primary foe.

As chairman of the Senate Governmental and Veterans Affairs Committee, O'Brien presided at public hearings on some of the most controversial legislation in the 1961 and 1963 sessions. The Republican majority also made his committee the custodian of several gubernatorial appointments that never reached the floor on a vote of confirmation.

O'Brien Defeated

O'Brien was defeated by Robert W. Warren, 38, of Green Bay, who is serving his second term as Brown County district attorney. The third man in the race was Gerald E. Holloway, also of Green Bay.

Near complete returns from the district gave Warren 6,638 votes, O'Brien 3,289, and Holloway 2,569.

The Districts Democratic nomination went to John O'Malley of Green Bay in a close contest with fellow townsman Donald Miller.

Sen. Reuben LaFave of Oconto, who came into the Senate in 1957, weathered a stern challenge from Emery Anson of Gillett in the 30th District race for Republican nomination. LaFave lost his home county of Oconto by a vote of 2,203 to 1,922 but topped Anson in near complete totals 7,088 to 6,605.

Primary Contests

The three other incumbents with primary contests moved to the Nov. 3 ballot with little difficulty. Asen. Allen Busby, R-Milwaukee, whipped Harold Schulz of Milwaukee. Sen. Gerald Lorge, R-Bear Creek, doubled the vote total of his challenger, George L. Buckley of Appleton. And Sen. Clifford Krueger, R-Merrill, defeated Leo T. Pelek of Argonne.

In the only other contested Democratic races, Henry Staff of Sheboygan edged George Sawicki of Mequon in the 20th District, and Joseph Lourigan beat two other candidates from Staff will oppose Sen. Ernest Keppler of Sheboygan in November, and Lourigan will face Sen. Earl Morton of Kenosha. Keppler and Morton both were unopposed in Republican primaries.

Four-Way Race
A four-way race for the Republican nomination in the 28th District was won by Donald J. Hansen of Greenfield, and Gene A. Rowland of Wisconsin Rapids defeated Ray Leacy of Wisconsin Rapids for the Republican nomination from the 24th. Sen. John Potter, R-Port Edwards, is resigning the post, and to keep it in Republican hands. Rowland must beat William C. Hansen of Stevens Point on Nov. 3. Hansen was the unopposed Democratic candidate.

Soviets Contract for British Fiber Plant

LONDON (AP) — The Soviet Union, in its biggest purchase to date in Britain, has signed a contract for a synthetic fiber factory valued at $84 million.

To finance the deal, Britain's Midland Bank and the Insurance Export Finance Co. will supply $67 million on a 15-year loan guaranteed by the British government. The United States is opposed to loans of more than five years to Communist bloc nations.

Floating Kidney Need Not be Cause of Worry

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: In early pregnancy, I developed a high fever and was in the hospital for 10 days.

Months later, after my healthy baby was born, I had X-rays which showed a floating kidney. My doctor said, "Don't worry unless it gets worse."

Dr. Molner

Can you explain this to me? Will it occur again? What can be done to prevent such a problem when I am pregnant again? — JANE.

A floating kidney is one which moves more than the usual degree as you change position. It does not call for worry or treatment unless it becomes annoying.

From the clues in your letter, I suspect that you had some form of kidney infection which could account for the fever. This infection, in turn, might have started because of some obstruction in the urine flow during your pregnancy.

This does not mean that the same trouble will develop in a future pregnancy.

Since your obstetrician knows your medical history, he can watch closely for signs of urinary tract infection, and start treatment early if any suspicious symptom appears.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have diverticulosis and my doctor has put me on a diet. He has helped a lot but I can't find out if it is dangerous, and what would happen if I went off the diet? — MRS. L. M.

The diet (low roughage) is designed to prevent irritating the area where the trouble exists. It is important for your safety and comfort, so I'd stay on it. For the ins and outs of diverticulosis, send 20 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me, in care of Appleton Post-Crescent, for my booklet, "Don't Let Diverticulosis Throw You."

Dear Dr. Molner: What do you think of heart catheterization? Is there any danger in taking this delicate test? Will it determine the extent of damage to any of the valves? — MRS. V. D. R.

I think we'd be in a sorry position if we didn't have catheterization, because it gives necessary information about the heart and the flow of blood through it.

This includes faulty valves as well as defects in the partitions between the chambers of the heart, defects which, for the most part, are amenable to surgery.

I cannot say that there isn't any danger, but it is very small, and the procedure has increased in safety over the years in which it has been in use. Patients, from babies to adults, are having this done daily across the country.

Even if the danger were rather substantial, I believe that it would be more than balanced by the safety inherent in knowing a great deal about a heart before surgery is begun.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is there some lack of vitamins or other reason why a person bruises easily? I have many bruises on my thighs at all times. I barely bump a table and I have a bruise. — MRS. B. C. H.

There can be various causes of easy bruising and lack of enough vitamin C (from citrus or tomato juices, or the fruit itself) is one of them. Lack of calcium is another — a reason why older people should drink milk. There can also be defects in the clotting mechanism of the blood. Special tests are needed to determine this.

A CHILD SHOULD KEEP HER ROOM IN ORDER! TRUE FALSE

By Sylvanus and Evelyn Duvall

True, but how, is the question. Many a mother hates to nag her children about keeping their rooms picked up. So she straightens their things when she can or leaves them in a mess. Neither of these alternatives is helpful to a youngster. A child's room is his own and he should be responsible for it.

He can be taught at an early age to put things away when he is finished with them, and to keep his room presentable.

There is a more detailed section on this problem contained in the new and absorbing booklet, "What Should Parents Expect From Children." Get your copy by sending 25 cents and your name and address to "Let's Explore Your Mind," care of Appleton Post-Crescent.

Can we successfully abolish poverty? Yes — No —

Yes, but we are not likely to do so by spending more money, or in other "crash programs." Some poverty exists because people are not willing to make the effort to become self-supporting. Even more serious, they are not willing to become the kind of persons who would be willing to make the effort. If we really want to abolish poverty, we must change the attitudes of many of the poor. Do we want to abolish poverty badly enough to make the changes in people that are necessary?

Terror, Hawk Gridders Will Play Road Contests Friday

AHS Opens Defense of Its Crown

Post-Crescent Sports Editor

If Appleton High School hopes to be on its way to a possible second straight triple crown by the time Lyndon Johnson or Barry Goldwater wins the Presidential election, it is imperative that the football Terrors Friday night beat West's Wildcats in Green Bay for the first time since the Harry Truman administration.

The grid Terrors, who won the co-title of the Fox River Valley Conference in '63 as part of the triple major - sports crown, open defense of their championship at 8 p.m. Friday in East Stadium.

In 1963, the Ade Dillon-coached Terrors ended their victory drought against West at six years with a 20-7 victory at Goodland Field. AHS, however, has not prevailed over the Wildcats on a Green Bay field in at least 14 years.

First Appearances
AHS was rated third in a pre-season poll, and the Wildcats no better than sixth in the conference. Such speculation means little in this kind of rivalry, especially when neither team has made an official appearance as yet. Actually, the Wildcats have two more returning lettermen than the Terrors (eight to six).

Because of the new alignment of nine teams, all FRVC clubs, with the exception of Manitowish, leap into a full-counting league fray instead of being able to test individuals and ideas in a non-league scrap. Manitowish, the "bye" team of the first round, opens against non-loop "Two Rivers."

Sheboygan North, the '63 champion and the '64 title favorite, opens at Fond du Lac Friday night, while Green Bay East is at Oshkosh. Green Bay Southwest will make its league debut, under Coach Jim Reinke, Saturday at Sheboygan South.

Last year, the Terrors turned loose a fearsome ground attack that piled up 242 yards against West. (The Wildcats gained only 23 rushing). In the air, AHS posted a 59-44 yardage edge. Dillon has put together a new

Hackbart Among 6 Players Cut By Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Redskins released veteran halfback Billy Barnes and five other players Wednesday to reach the National Football League limit of 40 players. Barnes, a Wake Forest College product in his eighth year as a pro, played with the Redskins for the last two seasons. He was acquired in 1962 from the Philadelphia Eagles. Others released were fullback Dave Francis, defensive halfback Dale Hackbart, flanker Frank Budd, defensive tackle Ben Davidson and John Seeborg, rookie placekicker from Arizona State.

Papermakers, Chuters Will Renew Football Rivalry Friday Night

Kimberly Has Size Edge; St. John More Experienced

BY JIM HARP
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

KIMBERLY—A pair of crafty, veteran football mentors will be watching intently from the sidelines when the rival Kimberly High School and Little Chute St. John gridiron teams clash at 8 p.m. Friday under the Kimberly arcs.

Coach Jim Nirschl, of the Papermakers, will be starting his 10th season as head mentor while Bill Fitzpatrick, of the Dutchmen, will be opening his 14th campaign.

Both will be looking for answers to the questions on how their teams will fare during the 1964 season in their respective conferences.

Extend Streak
While they are watching their gridders in their first test, both also will be maneuvering for a victory. Nirschl is seeking to extend the Papermaker string of wins over the Chuters to three straight while Fitzpatrick is hoping the game can be a springboard to the grid power and success the St. John clubs were noted for in the 1951-61 era.

Close games have been a feature of the St. John-Kimberly series. Last year, the Papermakers took a 13-6 victory and the season before had an 18-6 triumph. In 1961, the Chuters won by a 7-0 score capping a string of five straight victories over the Papermakers.

Kimberly will go into the game with better all-around size, but the Dutchmen will probably have a slight edge in experience. Fitzpatrick has a practically an all-veteran backfield to throw against the strong Kimberly line which averages between 185 and 190 pounds per man.

Led in Passing
Sparkplug of the St. John attack is quarterback Mike Weyenberg, an all-conference choice in the Fox Valley Catholic Conference as a junior. Weyenberg led the Chuters to the passing title in the league and again figures in Fitzpatrick's plans for a strong aerial game.

Starting halfbacks for the Dutchmen will be Gary Romenesko and Dan Gloudeans. Tom Huiting has been working as a halfback, but probably will be shifted to quarterback behind Weyenberg. Reserve quarter-

Xavier Plays Return Tilt With Hodags

Post-Crescent Sports Editor

A fiercely-determined Xavier High School football team will do its utmost to avoid making "Wrong way" history in Rhinelander Friday night.

The 1964 Hawks have no desire to become the first team in Xavier's 6-year football history, to lose two games in a row. The task will be demanding. The revenge-minded Rhinelander Hodags probably represent as great a challenge as Milwaukee, Francis Jordan, which tripped the Hawks, 26-12, last Friday.

While the Hawks were having their brilliant victory streak cut at 31 straight games, Rhinelander wallowed Lakeland, of Minocqua, 27-0. Despite the fact that Lakeland is a small school (less than 500), Rhinelander showed it has another team that will be a factor in the Wisconsin Valley Conference race.

Bounce Back
Last year, in the inaugural meeting between the two schools, Xavier whipped Rhinelander, 31-6. The Hodags, however, bounced back to win five of their remaining seven games — and 11 of the lettermen who manufacture the record are back this year.

Coach Gene (Torchy) Clark hasn't had the luxury this week of being able to concentrate on strengthening any one phase of his rebuilt team's operation. The defense needs shoring up, since the Hawks allowed 26 points — the greatest number ever permitted by a Xavier team — and was nicked for 254 yards.

And the Hawk offense sputtered, picking up but 153 yards — a most unimposing total for a Clark-coached team.

The lone bright spot for Xavier's play was its passing attack. Southpaw quarterback Paul Rechner completed seven of 14 aerials for 67 yards and one touchdown. Several of the incomplete passes were near misses — and Rechner had none intercepted. Junior ends Mike Heideman and Gene Jack in their first starting assignments.

Orioles Split, Hike Lead by Full Game

Powell Homers Twice in 6-3 Win; White Sox and Yankees Bow

BY MURRAY CHASS

Happiness is a healthy Boog Powell.

To the Baltimore Orioles, that is. To the other American League pennant contenders, a healthy Boog is unhappier than a Shakespearean tragedy.

Powell, the Orioles' slugging left fielder, exploded for a pair of two-run homers in Baltimore's 6-3 first game victory over Washington, and belted three singles in a 4-3 game of the Wednesday, two-night doubleheader.

Despite the split—the Orioles increased their lead to one game over second-place Chicago and 1½ games over third-place New York, The White Sox lost to Minnesota 5-2 while Detroit dumped the Yankees 4-0.

Powell returned to action only last Saturday after missing 14 games with a fractured wrist suffered against Boston Aug. 20. During his absence, Baltimore managed only an even split in 14 games.

Powell failed to hit in his first three times at bat after his return but now has seven hits in his last 11 trips to the plate, raising his average to .291.

Homers Off Narum
He slammed his 3rd homer following Buster Narum's walk to Norm Siebern in the first inning of Wednesday opener and came back with his 34th after another walk to Siebern in the sixth.

The 23-year-old Powell figured in all of the Orioles' scoring in the nightcap. He ignited a two-run rally in the fourth inning with a one-out single and stroked a clutch single in the sixth when the Orioles tied the game 3-3.

In the only other AL game, Boston edged Cleveland 6-5 in 10 innings.

Lombardi Concerned Over Help Arnett Will Mean to Bears

GREEN BAY (AP) — The Green Bay Packers have taken their final form as they continue preparations today for the National Football League season opener Sunday here with the Chicago Bears.

Former Marquette fullback Frank Mestnik was trimmed from the roster Wednesday as the Packers got down to the 40-player league limit.

Waivers were asked on Mestnik, who came to the Packers last year as a free agent after he was released by the St. Louis Cardinals. He was the Cards' 15th draft choice in 1960.

He had been the chief understudy for Jim Taylor.

The Packer roster includes nine rookies. They are halfback Dennis Clardige of Nebraska, defensive tackle Lloyd Voss, also of Nebraska, defensive back Tom Brown of Maryland, tackle Steve Wright of Alabama and Jack McDowell of St. John's of Minnesota, center Ken Bowman of Wisconsin, Wichita University end Bob Long, line-backer Tom Crutcher of Texas Christian and defensive back Doug Hart of Arlington State.

But while the Packers will be showing lot of new faces, Coach Vince Lombardi is concerned with a new Bear.

"A lot is going to depend on just how much Jon Arnett helps them," Lombardi said. Arnett was obtained in a recent deal with the Los Angeles Rams. Arnett is a running back.

As he expanded on the Chicago offense, Lombardi said, "You've got to remember they've been playing their exhibitions without Ronnie Bull and Mike Ditka. Those people are going to make a tremendous difference."

Halfback Bull and end Ditka have been hobbled by injuries. Lombardi said the Packers were in "pretty good shape." "We have a few bruises," he said, "but that's not unlike everybody else. We should be ready to go Sunday."

American League Officially OKs Sale of Yankees to CBS

Finley, Allyn Lose Vigorous Opposition Battle by 8-2 Margin

BY JOE REICHLER

BOSTON (AP) — "I just hope I will never have to say 'damn it, I told you so.'"

Arthur Allyn of the Chicago White Sox, a very fierce and frustrated club owner, voiced this fervent wish today after having led and lost a vigorous battle to stop the Columbia Broadcasting System from entering the inner sanctum of major league baseball.

By the same 8 to 2 club owner count that had been acquired in a telephone and telephone poll of a month ago, the American League, in a near day-long meeting Wednesday, officially approved the sale of 80 per cent of the New York Yankees for $11.2 million to the national television and radio network.

Expressed Delight
Dr. Frank Stanton, CBS president, expressed delight and gratification with the manner in which the club owners handled the controversial matter but Charles O. Finley of the Kansas City Athletics, angrily called the American League action "a railroad job."

"I requested of Dr. Stanton that CBS withdraw its offer to purchase the Yankees for the good of baseball," said Finley, first of the owners to exit from the stormy 7½ hour session behind locked doors. "The gentleman very graciously, however, stated he would not withdraw."

Finley reiterated his threat to sell his club to a Kansas City interest for $8 million and again charged that the Yankee-CBS transaction would result in a thorough investigation by the Justice Department of baseball's immunity from antitrust laws.

Dr. Stanton acknowledged that CBS was taking a "calculated risk" but added that before entering into a deal with the Yankees, the network had recruited outside legal counsel for an opinion on whether it would be in violation of the antitrust act.

Flat Guarantee
"We realize, of course, that no one can give you a flat guarantee that the Department of Justice will not undertake an inquiry or institute action," he said, "but it was his opinion that such a transaction would not be in violation of the antitrust laws."

Allyn, less vehement but equally as determined as his Kansas City counterpart, accused his American League colleagues of hasty and unwise action.

The young-looking White Sox head sought vainly to delay the vote, proposing that the league engage outside counsel, independent of baseball, distinguished in the field of antitrust law, to advise it from a wholly objective point of view, whether the ownership of the Yankees by CBS would or might result in prosecution of the league or CBS for violating the antitrust laws.

Allyn's proposal was rejected by a 7-3 vote. Baltimore joining the White Sox and Athletics in voting in the affirmative.

Reasonable Precaution
"It is, I believe, imperative that we use every reasonable precaution to assure the public that our action here is not just a whitewash of commitments already made," Allyn stated.

League President Joe Cronin, after referring the league resolution affecting the sale of the Yankees to CBS, said there was no fear of antitrust action and added baseball welcomed an inquiry by the Justice Department.

"We have nothing to hide," Cronin said. "We are proud that the government has such a great interest in the game."

"We've had many visits from the Department of Justice and we have always emerged favorably in their eyes."

Stanton took the position, held by a majority of the American League owners, that if the Justice Department should undertake an investigation or action, it would be solely against the network and the Yankees. He added that the American League and baseball's position as exempt from the antitrust laws would not be affected.

Has Lost Faith

Finley angrily charged that baseball has lost the faith of the fans because of the American League's decision to endorse the sale of the Yankees to CBS.

"I have nothing against CBS," he said, "but I feel they should remain on the sidelines and report from the outside and not from the inner circles of baseball."

"I am fearful that if and when CBS is awarded any contracts by baseball, the fans would feel CBS had the inside track and if CBS did not bid the fans would feel the contract was not worth bidding for."

"Without a doubt," Finley added, "the thing was railroaded through. If anyone at the meeting wants to be truthful about it, he'll tell you the same thing."

tribution for the third when Milwaukee scored three runs. Cloninger singled to open the inning and Felipe Alou got his second single. Alou was forced by Lee Maye before Ed Mathews walked to fill the bases.

Torre's single up the middle scored Cloninger and Maye. Mathews scored from second on a single by Rico Carty.

Milwaukee got three more runs in the eighth as Maye singled with one out and Mathews added a single. Maye stole third and scored when the throw by Jess Gonder went into left field. Mathews scored when Torre drove a double to the right field corner.

Joe Christopher bobbed Torre's drive and the Milwaukee backstop reached third. A double by Carty sent Torre home. Denis Menke's fumble led to a New York run in the second inning and Woody Woodward's boot helped the Mets to a run on a double play ball in the seventh.

Christopher sent in the other two New York runs. A sacrifice fly scored the tripling Ed Kranepool in the sixth and Christopher hit his 15th home run in the eighth.

The Braves and Mets were scheduled to conclude their brief series today. Wade Blasingame, 4 and 4, was the Milwaukee starting choice, facing former Brave Dennis Ribant, 1 and 1.

Packers Put Frank Mestnik On Waivers

ers, since Vince Lombardi took over the club in '59, have been solid and consistent winners, they are batting below .500 in the first - league-game department.

In five starts, the Bays lost three and won two. Logic and arithmetic say the Packers can make that 500 by whipping the Bears in City Stadium Sunday.

Other than one game — the 34-7 victory over the Vikings in the '62 opener, the Packers have engaged in four sockers, one of which was delightful.

That pleasant opener was Green Bay's spine - tingling 9 to 7 victory over the Bears in Lombardi's first league game. This was one of the turning-point games in the Packers' proud history and since then the Bays gained a 5 to 4 victory in the traditional rivalry in league competition.

By comparison, in the 22 Packer-Bear games before '59, the Packers won only four, the Bears hogged 17 wins, and one finished in a tie.

In the 1959 thriller, the Packers scored their nine points in the last seven minutes. Ray Nitschke recovered a Bear fumble on the Bear 25 and Jim Taylor scored the touchdown on the now famed Lombardi sweep from the five-yard line. Paul Hornung kicked the point and in the final seconds Dave Hanner Brown a safety by tackling Ed Brown in the end zone.

The next year the Bears reversed the situation. This time the Packers had a lead, 14 to 0, going into the fourth quarter and the Bears reeled off 17 points in the last 12 minutes to win 17-14. Willie Gallimore scored one TD on an 18-yard run and Rick Casares ripped 26 for the other John Aveni won it with a 21-yard field goal with 35 seconds left.

Happier Things
The 1961 opener promised happier things with a change of scenery — Milwaukee and the Lions. The Detroit-controlled ball pretty well and Nick Pietrosanti scored two touchdowns — one on a 2-yard plunge and the other on a pass from Earl Morrall. Taylor scored the Packer TD on a plunge and Hornung kicked two field goals against Jim Martin's one (from 44 yards).

The Packers had no trouble with the young Vikings in '62 but the visitors' fierce play, which has become their trademark, was quite evident. Hornung scored three TD's and kicked two field goals. The big shocker, of course, was in '63 when the Bears downed our boys, 10 to 3. Green Bay couldn't get off the proverbial dime and never pierced beyond the Bear 34 all day. Jerry Kramer kicked a 41-yard field goal. Joe Maroon scored for the Bears on a 1-yard plunge in the third period.

Lead Reduced to Five Games

Cardinals Defeat Phils, 10-5

BY MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer
Can the St. Louis Cardinals go for broke with Lou Brock?

That was the big question in the National League after Brock continued his heavy hitting for the Cardinals, slamming a homer and four singles as St. Louis whipped first-place Philadelphia 10-5 in 11 innings Wednesday night in the opener of a two-game series.

The victory was the 13th in 16 games for the second-place Cardinals — the Phillies have an 8-9 record over the same period — and kept them steamrolling toward the top while whitening Philadelphia's league lead to five games.

And Brock, the key man in a six-player trade completed with the Chicago Cubs just before the June 15 trading deadline, has supplied a big stick in an outfield depleted by Stan Musial's retirement.

Key to Trade
"Brock was the key to the trade," said Manager Johnny Keane at the time even though he had to give up a front-line pitcher in Ernie Broglio. "We wanted a man who could keep in the line-up every day. We believe Brock is the man and he should be of great help with his speed."

True, Brock, a 25-year-old left-hander swinger was hitting only .251 for the Cubs but has hit at a .351 clip for the Cardinals, scoring 64 runs, driving in 33 and stealing 30 bases in 79 games while moving into the top 10 among the hitters with an over-all .311 mark.

Batting 318 since the Cardinals started their streak, Brock singled in the first inning against the Phillies, fled out in the third, homered in the fifth, singled in the seventh, singled in the ninth as the Cardinals tied the score and singled as they won it in the 11th.

One Game Up
The Cardinals' victory left them one game up on Cincinnati and San Francisco, who remained six games off the pace. The Reds lost to Pittsburgh 4-1 and the Giants were whacked by the Los Angeles Dodgers 8-1.

Elsewhere, Milwaukee whipped the New York Mets 7-4 and the Cubs defeated Houston 6-3.

The Cardinals, who were 11 games behind the Phillies on Aug. 24, were two runs behind going into the ninth but tied it 5-5 on singles by Charley James and Brock, his steal of second, Bill White's grounder and a single by Ken Boyer. Boyer had hit a homer earlier.

Then, in the 11th, the Cardinals struck again as Philadelphia reliever Jack Baldschun Curt Flood and Brock singled and both rode home on a double by White. Richie Allen's error enabled White to score before run-producing singles by Julian Javier and pitcher Bob Humphreys wrapped up the rally.

Gets 200th Strikeout
Bob Veale brought his record to 16-10 for the Pirates, became the first Pittsburgh pitcher in history to reach the 200-strikeout level, by fanning five, but needed one-out relief help from Al McBean before subduing the Reds.

The Pirates scored all their runs in the fourth against Joey Jay on a walk, singles by Roberto Clemente, Willie Stargell and Bill Mazeroski plus a double by Jim Pagliaroni.

Don Drysdale brought his record to 17-13 for the Dodgers, checking the Giants on five hits while receiving support from a three-homer salvo. Willie Davis cracked a grand slam. Frank Tomars hit a three-run shot and Tommy Davis connected with the bases empty.

Billy Williams hit his 32nd homer — his third in as many games — for the Cubs, who snapped a 3-3 tie against the Colts with a three-run seventh. Jim Stewart's two-run single broke the deadlock.

Karen Hantze Susman Upsets Margaret Smith In National Tourney

BY WILL GRIMSLEY

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Women's tennis in the United States is on the ascendency again after a brief lull — and in the forefront is a demure California mother, Karen Hantze Susman.

Mrs. Susman, 21, of San Diego Calif., fashioned the biggest upset of the National Championships Wednesday when she knocked out Margaret Smith of Australia, the 1962 champion and No. 2 seed, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4.

She became one of five American survivors in the quarter-finals, the best American showing in the last few years.

"Rod (her husband) and I had already made reservations to pick up the baby in St. Louis tomorrow and then go home," the blonde one-time protégé of Maureen (Little Mo) Connolly said after her victory.

Observers Disagree
"Now we'll have to stay around a while, but I doubt if it will be very long. I don't think I have a chance to go through."

Most observers were inclined to disagree. In beating the tall, powerful Miss Smith, Karen showed the best tennis flashed by an American woman since Darlene Hard won in 1961. She scrambled but she fought and she came through with the big shot in the clutch.

Karen served-faulted 20 times and fanned 16 double-faults in the first two sets but won when the Australian girl double-faulted.

ed at set point in the last two sets.

Karen's quarter-final opponent is Carole Caldwell Graebner of Santa Monica, Calif.

The winner plays the survivor of the match between third-seeded Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif. and Nancy Richey of Dallas, assuring the United States of at least one finalist.

Carl Hanks of St. Louis is in the bottom half with Ann Haydon Jones of England, whom she meets next; defending champion Maria Bueno of Brazil, and Robyn Ebbern of Australia, who meet in the other match.

Hard Road Ahead

The United States' two big guns, Dennis Ralston and Chuck McKinley, survived to the men's quarter-finals but they have a hard road ahead against invading rivals, including Australians Roy Emerson, Fred Stolle and Tony Roche, plus defending champion Rafael Osuna of Mexico.

Ralston seeded No. 2 from Bakersfield, Calif., won over 41-year-old Vic Seixas, the Davis Cup captain, 6-1, 6-4, 6-2. McKinley, seeded No. 4, from San Antonio Tex., turned back Ron Holmberg of Highland Falls, N.Y., 7-5, 6-4, 8-6.

Ralston faces Stolle in a Davis Cup preview while McKinley plays Roger Taylor of England.

The other pairings send Osuna against England's Mike Sangster and Emerson against the Australian girl double-fault-Roche.

Packers and Giants Pre-Season Picks For Division Titles

AP Writer Sees Bears, Colts,
Lions and Vikings as Threats

BY JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul Hornung will lead Green Bay to the Western Conference title and Y.A. Tittle's magic will make it four straight for New York in the East setting up another Packer-Giant showdown for the National Football League title Dec. 27 at Yankee Stadium.

The Packers are generally being picked to dethrone the Chicago Bears in the West, with Baltimore and possibly Detroit and Minnesota challenging.

The East looks like a wide open scramble among New York, St. Louis and Cleveland, with Washington a long-shot possibility. Despite the Giants' sad 14 record in the exhibition games and player shake-ups of earthquake proportions, Allie Sherman still has the old Bald Eagle and a flock of nifty pass catchers.

Soundest Club

St. Louis is the soundest club in the East but they still have to prove themselves under championship fire and may be a bit thin in defense. Cleveland has added passing strength with rookie flanker Paul Warfield to complement Jim Brown's running, but something always seems to go wrong. With Sonny Jurgensen, rookie Charley Taylor and veteran Sam Huff in the lineup, Washington is highly respected.

Here's the way it looks from here before the opening gun:

WESTERN CONFERENCE

1. Green Bay
2. Chicago
3. Baltimore
4. Detroit
5. Minnesota
6. Los Angeles
7. San Francisco

EASTERN CONFERENCE

1. New York
2. St. Louis
3. Cleveland
4. Washington
5. Pittsburgh

6. Dallas

7. Philadelphia

Paul Hornung's return after a year's suspension for betting on games and the driving ambition of Coach Vince Lombardi to make up for last year's defeat by the Bears should be enough to tip the scales in favor of Green Bay. Big strides in this race will be taken in the first three with Packers playing Chicago, Baltimore and Detroit on successive weekends.

Despite the Bears' troubles in the exhibition games with a spluttering offense, George Halas has that same alert defensive unit that won the league championship last December. The Bears won't blast anybody off the field but they'll be in there.

Tony Lorick looked so good against the Steelers that it is tempting to pick Baltimore higher than third. Johnny Unitas has some fine targets but the defense is showing its age.

With Alex Karras, like Hornung back from a year's suspension Detroit's formidable defensive unit is intact but a year older. Much depends on Milt Plum's arm.

Minnesota, with a perfect 5-0 exhibition record, looks tough with Bill Brown and Tommy Mason approximating Green Bay's ground punch of Hornung and Jim Taylor.

Los Angeles should beat out San Francisco for sixth place. That Ram front four on defense can give anybody fits.

Tittle and the pass-catching corps give the edge to the Giants in the East although Sherman still has no running game and needs settling on defense and pass protection.

The Cards have a fine passer in Charley Johnson, brilliant receivers in Sonny Randle and Bobby Joe Conrad and a big punch in Prentice Gautt and Joe Childress. If they can stop the big running teams like Cleveland and Pittsburgh they can win.

Cleveland has improved but must face both Green Bay and Detroit from the other conference. Those small pass defense men still have trouble.

Washington has come up with an exciting runner in Taylor, plus an experienced quarterback, Jurgensen, and more catching skill in Angelo Coia. Huff must help the defense all season for that leaky pass cover-has killed the Skins for years. Pittsburgh has been slow coming around but it has a stiff punch in John Henry Johnson and some tough muscle men up front.

Dallas should have the wildest games in the league with Tommy McDonald and Buddy Dial catching and nobody to stop the other side. Joe Kuharich's rebuilding program at Philadelphia is coming along nicely but don't expect too much the first year.

Earl Hintz' 633 Set Tops Classic Loop

NEENAH — Earl Hintz jotted a 245 game and a 633 series to lead the Fox Valley Classic Bowling League in its initial season Wednesday night at Lakeroad.

Outlaw Bow Hunting in Cook County

CHICAGO (AP) — The latest advance of civilization in Cook County (Chicago) has local outdoormen quivering with indignation: the county board Wednesday outlawed hunting with bow and arrow.

Board President Seymour Simon, who proposed the ordinance, said: "Bow-and-arrow hunting within a county of more than five million residents would probably bag more people than deer."

Dennis Nelson's 576 Paces 'Continental'

KIMBERLY — Dennis Nelson rolled a 576 series to lead kers in the Continental League at Jerry's Lanes.

Unusual Tactic Is Attributed To Goldwater

Proposes Task Force on Peace And Freedom

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, in one of the most unusual tactics in the history of American political campaigns, has announced the creation of a seven-man "task force on peace and freedom."

He said this group — headed by former Vice President Richard M. Nixon — in the weeks ahead "will discuss with leaders of the free world ways in which freedom's cause can best be advanced while keeping the peace."

This might seem to suggest the team would go abroad to talk with such leaders as French President Charles de Gaulle and West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard. If this is Goldwater's intention, it was not known to all the men he named.

Soviet Expert
The idea apparently came from Dr. Gerhart Niemeyer, professor of political science at the University of Notre Dame and an expert on Soviet problems. In one of his books Goldwater credited the professor with being one of those "who have contributed to my thinking, writing and speaking."

Dr. Niemeyer said Wednesday night: "I had suggested such a trip abroad as necessary."

But Nixon's office in New York said he has "no plans for leaving the country for this purpose at this time."

By what might be an amazing coincidence, President Johnson Wednesday, before Goldwater got out his announcement, said he had created a 16-man panel of "distinguished citizens" to consult with him on international problems.

He apparently has no intention of sending any of them abroad or, perhaps, of even consulting with them as a group. He told newsmen he would consult with them as individuals.

Names Released
When the Republican National Committee Wednesday night followed up Goldwater's announcement by releasing the names of the seven-man task force, there was no indication in the wording any of them would be expected to go abroad.

One member of the group, Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, top Republican on the Senate's Foreign Relations Committee, said he was unable to throw any light on what the group would do.

He said Goldwater asked him several weeks ago if he would serve on a foreign policy task force. He said that while he agreed, no plans had been outlined for the group to make trips abroad. He said he wouldn't be surprised if some member of the force did.

Another member, Adolph W. Schmidt, a Pittsburgh financial executive, was equally blank on what was expected of him. He said some Goldwater staff members had asked him if he would serve, and he agreed.

Other Groups
But, he said, when he asked specifically what the group would do, he was told this would all be explained and discussed at a meeting. He said Goldwater intends to set up two more task forces: one on defense, the other on domestic policy.

When told that Johnson had also set up a foreign policy panel, Schmidt laughed. He said: "Maybe the two groups ought to get together."

Hickenlooper was asked if he thought a trip abroad by the Goldwater task force — to discuss international problems with the heads of other nations — might violate the Logan Act. He said no.

No one has ever been prosecuted under this law which was passed in 1799 with angry political overtones.

It forbids any citizen — without permission of this government — to deal with a foreign government "with an intent to influence the measures or conduct of any foreign government — in relation to any disputes or controversies with the United States or to defeat the measures of the United States."

The penalty: $3,000 fine or five years in jail, or both.

The situation which brought about the Logan Act has never, to this writer's knowledge, happened since the 18th century. In 1797, President John Adams sent three emissaries to France to settle differences with this country. They failed.

Then Dr. George Logan — a Quaker and private citizen who was probably sincere in his intentions and without political motive — decided he'd try on his own to reach an understanding with the French.

While President Adams was a Federalist, Logan bore letters of introduction to the French from Thomas Jefferson, a Republican, and Adams' political foe. The French wined and dined Logan but the Federalists denounced him.

He returned to announce the Federalists called him a traitor. Federalists called him a traitor. Federalists called him a traitor.

Adams wrote to Timothy Pickens, secretary of state: "The object of Logan seems to have been to do or obtain something which might give opportunity for the 'true American character to blaze forth in the approaching elections.'"

"Is this constitutional for a party of opposition to send embassies to foreign countries to obtain their interference in elections?"

Then Adams' Federalists passed the Logan Act.

Fund-Raising Dinner Held For Goldwater

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — An estimated 30 to 40 persons attended a fund-raising dinner with a tab of "at least $5,000" Wednesday night for Sen. Barry Goldwater's presidential campaign.

The invitations were signed by Seattle businessman William G. Reed, who said the affair was arranged at the request of Ralph Cordiner, chairman of the Republican finance committee.

Cordiner, former board chairman of General Electric Co. and a native of Walla, Wash., sent a letter urging those invited to contribute "at least $5,000" to the party.

The number of invitations sent out was not disclosed, but one went to Edgar Eisenhower, Tacoma, brother of the former president and a Goldwater supporter. However, the attorney said the price was "too rich for my blood."

Kentucky Weather-vane Tells True Fish Story

Visitors are told the bullet hole in the fish was put there

But that's a fish story. After the Civil War, a Union Army soldier passed through weathervane.

Orioles Split Widen Lead To One Game

seep of the Senators. Kirkland, whom Washington acquired from Baltimore last month, clouted a two-out homer in the ninth inning of the second game, breaking the 3-3 deadlock.

The Orioles had tied it in the sixth when Luis Aparicio walked, raced to third as Powell singled and scored on a sacrifice fly by Brooks Robinson.

Chicago remained only .0004 ahead of the Yankees as the Twins battered 17-game winner Juan Pizarro in the second and third innings.

Hall Doubles. Minnesota tied the game 2-2 in the second as Jimmie Hall doubled in a run and scored on Earl Battey's single. Bob Allison snapped the stalemate with a two-run triple in the third, then scored as Hall fouled out.

Mickey Lolich pitched out New York on five hits posted his seventh straight victory and third consecutive shutout and increased his record to 16-7. The Tigers scored all of their runs in the seventh inning, the last three on Don Wert's home run off Whitey Ford, 14-6.

Carl Yastrzemski's two-run homer in the 10th inning carried the Red Sox past the Indians. Woody Held countered with a bases empty blast in Cleveland's 10th, but that wasn't enough.

Dick Radatz, the victim of Held's homer, tied a league mark with his 71st pitching appearance. Baltimore's Stu Miller set the record last season. The major league record is 74, held by Jim Konstanty of the 1950 Philadelphia Phillies.

St. John Will Face Kimberly

back Jerry Jansen will be out for the remainder of the season with a fracture of the right arm suffered on the third-last play of a scrimmage Saturday with Menasha High School.

Tim Wegand and Vic DeBruin will handle the fullbacking duties for the Chuturs.

In the line, St. John will have Bruce Hammen and Dave Van Vreede at ends. Hammen has been shifted from a halfback spot to take advantage of his pass-catching ability. He was the team's leading ground gainer last season.

Tackle starters will be picked from Tom Pfeffer, Jay Van Thiel and Larry Hietpas while the guards available include Dennis Driessen, Joe Schaeffer and Ken Peeters. Mike Cook will hold down the center spot with Huiting as a replacement. Nirschl is still undecided about starters at various positions, and plans to do some experimenting at spots. "Whitey" Neinhaus, Jim Bogenschutz and Bob Van Gompel have been calling the signals from the quarterback slot, and Neinhaus will probably get the starting nod.

Terry Subert and Leo Anthony are running at one halfback slot and Dick Wallace and Ken Fries are at the other. Jim Cory and Clem Phillipsen are the top prospects at fullback.

Lineman for the Papermakers include Tom Van Cuyk, Jim Geenen, Tom Wentzel and Bill Verbeten at the ends. Tackles are Verbeten, Dan DeWeert, Ken Thiel, Carl Van Halvoort, and Dick Paalmann.

Candidates for guard spots are John Hengel, Jack Raadatz, Joe Kaufman and Jack Vanden Heuvel and the center will be either Dick Dresang or DeWeert.

Jim Vanden Heuvel, who was being counted on for fullback duty, probably will miss the game for the Papermakers. He is nursing a knee injury.

Loss at St. Augustine and Jacksonville Set at Millions

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Dora smashed at St. Augustine and Jacksonville today, devastating a vast area with a 10-foot tide and 100-mile plus winds.

The massive storm, tormenting 100,000 square miles of land and sea, sent gales whistling all the way to South Carolina and battered Brunswick, Ga., with 65-mile gusts.

Streets Under Water

Unofficial estimates put damage so far in the tens of millions.

Water flowed hip deep in the ancient slave market square in the heart of this picturesque city of 15,000, the nation's oldest.

Giant old oaks that have weathered tempests through the centuries were uprooted. Most streets were inundated. Power was out.

In Jacksonville — a city of 250,000 with a modern, gleaming skyline — homes were unroofed, streets flooded, power lines, poles and trees tossed to the ground in a tangle.

More Trouble Ahead

Where tides did not reach to damage buildings, torrential rains lashed by the shrieking, moaning winds did. Hundreds of homes had wind-driven rain on their floors.

At 7 a.m., EST, Dora was centered about 30 miles southwest of downtown Jacksonville, moving erratically toward the west or west-northwest at seven miles an hour.

The Weather Bureau advised that more battering was to come.

Rains of 10 to 15 inches were predicted for the rest of northern Florida and southeastern Georgia, producing flooding in rivers and streams, some severe.

Hurricane warnings flew as far as Charleston, S.C., with gale warnings up to Myrtle Beach.

NFO Chief Urges Truce as Reynolds Calls Peace Talks

Truck Driver Ivan Miller, 40, Cecil, center, is escorted to jail by a Shawano County deputy sheriff shortly after his cattle truck struck and killed two NFO pickets at a Bonduel livestock co-op. Payoff Charge In Baker Case Due for Probe

Parties Divided Over Group Which Will be in Charge

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate investigation of an alleged $35,000 political payoff by Matthew H. McCloskey, former ambassador and Democratic fund raiser, was in the making today in a revival of the stormy Bobby Baker case.

But Democrats and Republicans were divided over whether the probe should be conducted by the Senate Rules Committee or the Government Operations Committee.

A Senate vote late in the day was in prospect.

Democratic Aim

The Democratic leadership threw its weight behind a resolution to turn the job over to the Rules Committee, which Republicans have accused of whitewashing an investigation into Baker's money-making deals while he was secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority.

Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., who leveled the payoff charge in a Senate speech last week, said he had "no confidence whatever" in the Rules Committee and offered a substitute resolution directing the Government Operations Committee to conduct the inquiry.

Fears Whitewash

The Operations Committee is headed by one of the Senate's best known investigators, Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark.

Williams said an investigation by the Rules Committee, headed by Sen. B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., would result only in "another batch of whitewash."

Jordan has denied any whitewash of the Baker case and contended the Republicans wanted to prolong the investigation in hopes of making political capital for this year's election campaign.

U. S. Officer Is Slain in Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A U.S. Army officer advising a Vietnamese ranger battalion was killed today in a clash with a Viet Cong patrol only 15 miles south of Saigon.

U.S. officials said the rangers, about 400 strong, were moving through Long An Province on a routine operation when a Viet Cong unit of about 20 men opened fire, sniping and firing short machine-gun bursts.

The American and two Vietnamese were killed and seven other Vietnamese were wounded. One of the guerrillas was killed. The rest fled.

2 Shooting Incidents in Wisconsin After Tragedy At Bonduel Stockyards

BONDUEL, Wis. (AP) — The deaths of two National Farmers Organization (NFO) members under the wheels of a heavy truck and the cries of other demonstrators that the driver be lynched brought a call for a truce in the Wisconsin part of a campaign to withhold livestock from market.

But two shooting incidents involving livestock truckers were reported during the night. There were no injuries.

Gov. John Reynolds said Wednesday night that Oren Lee Staley, national NFO president, had ordered cancellation of all previously planned Wisconsin demonstrations pending a meeting in the governor's office Friday.

Reynolds said Staley has agreed to attend the meeting which was called "to discuss the manner and method by which the NFO can properly conduct its holding action and demonstrations."

2 Gunfire Attacks

A Lafayette County livestock trucker told authorities in Janesville that he was followed by two cars across one county on the way to market in Milwaukee late Wednesday night and then was fired on five times from the shoulder of a road two miles west of Orfordville, in south-central Wisconsin.

The Rock County sheriff's office said two rifle bullets penetrated the truck and a pig was hit. The driver, who was not identified, was escorted by police to Milwaukee.

Early today several shots were fired from a passing car in the vicinity of a home of another livestock trucker in Rubicon Township, in east-central Wisconsin. The Dodge County sheriff's office said the bullets, apparently did not strike anything.

Staley Calls Death Tragedy

In his statement at Madison announcing the conference, Reynolds referred to the deaths as "the senseless shedding of blood." He said "acts of violence will not be permitted within the state of Wisconsin" and "all the resources of the state will be used to insure this."

Staley said at NFO headquarters in Corning, Iowa, Wednesday night that the deaths were "tragic." He added "They should serve as a symbol for greater effort on the part of farmers in an orderly and de-

Rezoning Cloture Failure Predicted

Senate Prepares to Vote On Proposal by Dirksen

WASHINGTON (AP) — A move to shut off debate in Senate battle over the Supreme Court's legislative reapportionment decision appeared certain of defeat today.

Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and 16 other senators are trying to end debate on Dirksen's proposal to delay for at least a year federal court orders carrying out the high tribunal's ruling that both houses of state legislatures be apportioned on a population basis.

President Johnson, meanwhile, was reported backing a compromise that states it is the "sense of Congress" that legislative reapportionment be delayed. This would not have the force of Dirksen's proposal.

The controversy is one of the chief stumbling blocks to adjournment of Congress. Dirksen seeks to attach his proposal to the $3.3-billion foreign-aid authorization bill to prevent any possibility of a presidential veto.

The cloture vote — which requires two-thirds approval from those senators voting — is expected to fail short. It is aimed at a group of senators who have been trying to talk Dirksen's rider to death.

Aikens' Forecast

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., a supporter of the cloture petition, predicted it would muster "over 50 votes and less than 60." Sixty-seven would be required to invoke cloture if all the 100 senators vote.

Dirksen's rider would delay for a year or more court-ordered reapportionment of state legislatures "in the absence of highly unusual circumstances."

While opponents of the rider appeared to have enough votes to defeat cloture, Dirksen said he is confident he can muster a majority to defeat any subsequent motion to table and thus kill his rider and clear the way for passage of the foreign-aid bill.

Johnson Set for Campaign Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson makes the first, avowedly political trip of his campaign tonight, flying to Pennsylvania for a one-night stand.

The President, who will leave the White House by helicopter at sundown, will fly direct to Harrisburg, the Pennsylvania capital, to address Democrats at a $100-a-plate dinner.

Then, after a few good night handshakes, he will return to Washington.

Party leaders in Harrisburg predicted 6,000 diners would attend the event in the Farm Show Arena building. Tickets have been on sale for days but the White House did not acknowledge until Wednesday that the President would attend.

Johnson made his first trip of the campaign Monday, addressing the annual AFL-CIO Labor Day rally in Detroit.

U. S. Jets Used For Protection Of Vietnamese

TAY NINH, South Viet Nam (AP) — Four U.S. Air Force jet fighters patrolled close to Cambodia's border today to protect a Vietnamese military operation against possible attack by Cambodian jets.

An American military source said he believed this was the first time U.S. jets have been involved in such an action in Viet Nam, though some went aloft Saturday at the request of the Vietnamese government when two Soviet-built planes of the Cambodian air force streaked across the border into Vietnamese airspace.

There was no contact either Saturday or today.

The government has charged Cambodian planes, patrol boats and artillery have been supporting the Communist Viet Cong in border operations.

The military source said that if Cambodian fighters had appeared and attacked the Vietnamese forces, the U.S. jets doubtless would have been ordered to destroy the intruders.

Defense Department Official Is Fired

WASHINGTON (AP) — A veteran Defense Department official has been fired after an investigation of possible irregularities in handling of certain administrative funds, the Pentagon announced Wednesday night.

The announcement said William H. Godel was "removed from his position" as deputy director for management in the advanced research projects agency on Aug. 24. He has appealed his dismissal from the $20,000 a year job.

UAW to Press for Ford Pact Friday

Negotiations With GM to Start Later, Reuther Says

DETROIT (AP) — United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther, with a Chrysler agreement which he estimated to be worth 54 cents an hour over the next three years, will begin a drive at Ford Motor Co. Friday for the equivalent or better.

From Ford, Reuther said he would proceed to General Motors Corp.

The union is expected to demand the same pattern — including a possible pension in 1965 of up to $400 a month at age 60 — from American Motors Corp., scores of supplier plants and the agricultural implement industry.

The Big Three of General Motors, Ford and Chrysler employ more than a half million UAW-represented workers. Their contracts often set national patterns.

Most significant gains at Chrysler were in areas of earlier retirement and pensions.

Workers would get a bonus for quitting at 60 instead of 65. In those five years, effective next September, a worker would be guaranteed 70 per cent of his straight-time pay up to a maximum of $400 a month.

After 65 he would get $4.25 a month — instead of a current $2.80 — for each year of service, plus his government Social Security. This would mean a pension cut for a worker earning the industry average of $3.01 hourly if he had quit at 60.

The union, managed to hold on to annual wage boosts and a cost-of-living escalator and to gain company payment of full hospital-medical insurance last Saturday.

The giant typhoon appeared to be aiming a direct blow at the crowded British colony where Typhoon Ruby killed 41 persons last Saturday.

Sally was expected to hit Hong Kong tonight.

Political Prisoner Jumps to His Death

Adventurer of 71 Ends 10,000-Mile Raft Trip

Set Out to Prove Old Man Able To Conquer Ocean on Sole Journey

BRISBANE, Australia (AP) — William Willis has proved once again that an old man can beat the sea.

The 71-year-old American adventurer completed a 10,000-mile two-stage solo trip across the Pacific on a raft Wednesday. He said the exploit nearly killed him.

Often Near Death

"I was at the point of death many times," the bearded New Yorker reported after he beached his raft Age Unlimited at Tully, 1,150 miles north of Brisbane. He had set out from Peru on July 4, 1963.

"I came in on my last set of nerves," said Willis.

"The weather was extremely bad and I had many catastrophes. I think a vertebra in my back is broken."

Willis, who sailed from Peru to Samoa on a balsa raft in 1954, started his second trans-Pacific voyage last year "to show that a man past 65 is still in the running if he wants to be."

Used Steel Raft

For his second trip he used a steel raft 33 by 18 feet, equipped with three self-sealing pontoons, one fore and two aft. With a hand-cranked radio transmitter

Helpless for 6 Days

For six days, Willis said, he was paralyzed from the waist down. To keep from being washed overboard by the pounding seas, he lashed himself to the deck.

In this condition he took pictures of himself by movie and still cameras, to show doctors and use on lecture tours.

Disaster nearly struck again

State of Emergency In Malaysia Voted By Representatives

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Malaysia's House of Representatives, heading government warnings of a mounting threat from Indonesia, unanimously ratified today a proclamation of national emergency.

The approval by acclamation was a mere formality. The state of emergency has been in effect since last Friday, when it was proclaimed by royal decree.

But the special Parliament session, called to fulfill constitutional requirements, provided government leaders with a springboard for fresh, detailed charges of Indonesian aggression, in the wake of seaborne and parachute assaults by Indonesian guerrillas on the Malaysian mainland.

2 Families Escape Into West Berlin

BERLIN (AP) — Two East Berlin couples and their 11 children escaped to West Berlin during the night hidden in a refrigerator truck beneath meat.

The children were drugged with sleeping pills to prevent them from making any noise while border guards were inspecting the truck.

Buddhist Paper Alleges Clashes Caused by U. S.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam's leading Buddhist publication accused Americans today of triggering the recent bloody clashes between Buddhists and Roman Catholics.

The publication, Hai Trieu Am, also indirectly accused the United States of manipulating the Saigon government to extend American influence in South Viet Nam.

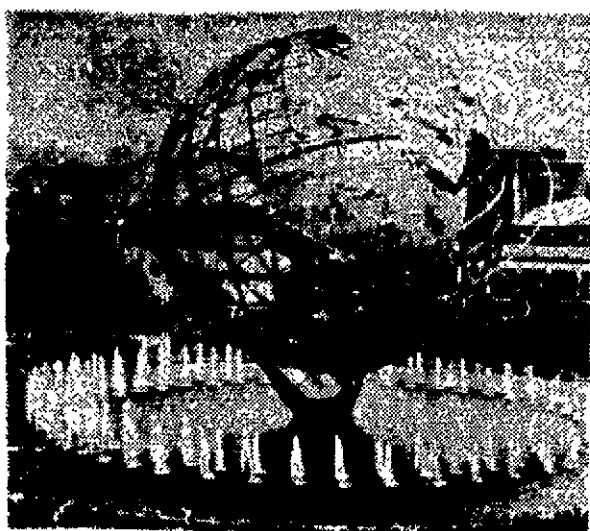

Charges of American manipulation have been voiced privately by some government officials. Premier Nguyen Khanh was asked at a news conference Wednesday whether the U.S. Embassy had exerted any diplomatic pressure on his government during the recent crisis.

A Taste of Excellent Cuisine at the World's Fair

Post-Crescent Food Editor

NEW YORK—From a diner's point of view the World's Fair is a paradise. Flushing Meadow is, indeed, filled with restaurants. There are attractive outdoor eating places . . . there are many beautiful indoor restaurants with superb service and excellent cuisine. Some take fat pocketbooks . . . others feature medium priced menus . . . and some are downright bargains in quality plus quantity.

It was impossible to see them all during a three-day visit to the Fair, but a peek at most of the menus . . . posted outside restaurants together with prices in New York City fashion . . . was proof enough that this is truly a world-wide fair as far as foods are concerned.

Two modestly priced snacks which shouldn't be overlooked while wandering down Fair streets are the luscious Belgian waffles piled high with fresh fruit and whipped cream and the deliciously hot pizzas sold from individual wedge-size to huge whole ones. The waffles are found at a stand across from the Belgian Village and the pizzas on the farthest avenue of the Fair.

Two of today's recipes come from the 7-Up International Sandwich Gardens. This is a lovely outdoor dining area . . . a canopy-covered garden where foreign sandwich creations are served. The area is easy to find . . . it's just off the Central Mall and is distinguished by its 107-foot, 8-inch clock tower.

Here sandwiches are made from special breads, oval in shape with no crusts. Each trayful of sandwiches represents four countries within one of the global areas . . . northern Europe, the Mediterranean, the Americas and the Pacific. The result is such delicacies as the barbecued pork sandwich prepared Philippine-style and assorted wursts with a spicy dressing on German pumpernickel bread.

Two recipes come from the unusually beautiful, art-filled Spanish Pavilion with its three elegant restaurants. One is the gourmet Filet of Sole prepared with bananas and smothered in Hollandaise sauce. The Hollandaise is made with champagne by Granada Restaurant chefs. This gives the sauce a smoothness and delicacy that's divine, but a dry sauterne or lemon juice may be substituted with ease.

The other recipe is Cocido, a hearty soup-stew that is Spain's national dish. Various Spanish provinces have different ways of making Cocido. Some use potatoes instead of rice with garbanzos or chick peas . . . or spinach instead of cabbage. So, we include an American version using lima beans instead of the garbanzos and iceberg lettuce in place of spinach.

ica's heritage dishes. This restaurant with its garden atmosphere specializes in authentic regional American cuisine, in order to include the many specialties from different parts of

You say the boss has been giving you a bad time and just doesn't seem to realize that you are only ONE person? You say he gave you a dirty look when you spent just an extra minute leaning on the coke machine? What about that letter you typed and missed one lousy comma? You say the kids came tearing into the house with muddy feet and got it all over your newly scrubbed kitchen floor and then when you shoed them into the den they knocked your favorite vase on the floor? You say one is now a "terrible two" but you have your doubts about him ever growing out of the stage? What about that lug you call the "light of your life" coming home late for dinner and then crabs because the soup is cold and the "cube steaks" look more like shriveled up prunes than Oscar Mayer's favorites? Well, look pal, we're not psychiatrists, we're just a bunch of real nice gals who sing their cares away every Tuesday evening at the Morgan School starting Tuesday, September 15th at 7:30. You say, what about the rest of the week? That's your problem, pal! We only take care of ONE night—but isn't that a good start? Your Problems

Husband's Attentions to Wife's Girl Friend Cause of Concern

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Jay and I have been married two years. My best girl friend is still single. My husband always changes his shirt and slicks his hair back with goose grease when he knows Kathy is coming over.

Every time Jay drives Kathy home it takes longer and longer. A few weeks ago he had car trouble. Last week she invited him in for a nightcap, and he forgot the time.

Last night Kathy started to brag about her 21 inch waist. Maybe I'm overly sensitive because I'm pregnant, but I really got mad when she challenged Jay to encircle his hands around her waist to see if his thumbs and index fingers would touch.

I decided to ride along when Jay drove her home. All the way back he talked about her remarkable 21 inch waist.

Do you think I have trouble? — Diss-Turbed

Dear Diss: A baby is infinitely more remarkable than a 21 inch waist. If Jay ever brings up her measurements again let him know.

In the meantime, tell Kathy

she is welcome to come over if she wants to bring a boy friend along — to even up the party. But no more of this gleesome threesome jazz.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Last year my husband and I inherited a modest sum of money from an uncle. To listen to my mother and my aunt talk, you'd think it was a million dollars and that we are imbeciles. Every month they have a project they feel we should donate the money to. We've had personal visits from representatives of three charitable organizations since February. (My mother and aunt sic them on us.) Two nephews have decided we should put them through college.

My husband and I are ready to tell them all off. How do we do it without alienating the whole tribe? — Nettled will there's a relative. Funny how nothing creates interest like inherited money.

The letters that appear in this column are evidence enough that otherwise bright people suddenly become stupid and timid when it comes to protecting themselves against members of their own family. Put an end to the problem by telling them to stop worrying about the money because you plan to dispose of it in your own way.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My girl and I want to be married soon. Will you please tell us what states do not require a blood test? We want to go to one of these states.

We believe it is unconstitutional for a state to stick its nose into the condition of people's blood. This is not the government's business. It is a personal matter. If we want to be married without a blood test we should be able to do so. Thank you in advance for your help — Independent Thinkers

Dear I. P.'s: You thanked me too soon. I am not going to give you any help.

Now the Real State Campaign Begins

With the primary out of the way, the fall election in Wisconsin now begins in earnest.

Governor Reynolds has been actively campaigning practically since he took office, but he had to divert some of his attention to his primary foe and now he can devote full time to his Republican opposition.

Warren Knowles has intentionally spent the last few months putting his organization together and enlisting the full support of county organizations. He can now be expected to devote more attention to his public appearances and utterances and to raise basic issues in the campaign.

The Proxmire-Renk battle so far has been a competition in who can get up earlier in the morning and stay up later at night and how many hands each can shake in such long working days. But the incumbent Democratic Senator should be freed of his duties in Washington soon so that he can spend full time in the state, and Renk, like Knowles, has been saving his all-out attack until after the primary. The race is important nationally, with Proxmire facing his stiffest challenge yet for his seat in the Senate, and high-ranking members of both parties can be expected to appear in the state to lend a hand.

In the Congressional races, John Byrnes and Melvin Laird must be judged heavy favorites to retain their seats in the House. In the Eighth District it will be an all-Green Bay battle since Mayors Joseph Bayorgeon of Kaukauna and Frank Tachovsky of Sturgeon Bay lost out to Cletus

Johnson of Green Bay for the Democratic nomination to oppose Byrnes, proving the advantage of geography in politics.

William Van Pelt and John Race emerged as opponents in the Sixth District after both won very close primary victories. The vote total compiled by Jack Steinhilber, particularly in Winnebago and Fond du Lac Counties, would indicate that Van Pelt faces another tough battle in November.

A familiar name will be missing from the state senate ballot column for Leo O'Brien of Green Bay was defeated by Brown County District Attorney Robert Warren. But Gerald Lorge smothered the challenge of George Buckley in Outagamie and Waupaca Counties.

The wet weather which encouraged rural people to turn out at the polls in large numbers, coupled with the very light vote in cities like Appleton and Green Bay, were both factors in the victories of two rural candidates for the Assembly in this area, Ervin Conradt in the new Outagamie County Third District, and Lawrence Kafka of Denmark beating the two-term Assemblyman from Brown County's Second District, Alexander Grant.

Most political experts so far have rated Wisconsin's fall election as a horse race. The primary results do nothing to dispel this prediction. What the major candidates have to say about the serious issues facing this state, and how much energy and personality they put into their campaigning for the next two months will be the vital factors in the decision. And if past results are still a legitimate guide, a complete sweep by either party is unlikely.

Another Commie Split

Palmiro Togliatti, leader of the Italian Communist Party, was a strong backer of the Soviet Union as opposed to the Red Chinese effort to take over control and management of Communist parties around the world. So Togliatti's strong criticism of the Soviet Union, some of the methods of Russian communism, and Khrushchev himself has all the more impact as far as Communists outside of Russia are concerned.

Togliatti wrote an article just before his death and it was published and endorsed by the Italian Communist Party. It decried the holdovers of the oppression of the Stalin period, the insistence of Communists that everything they do is the best of all, Khrushchev's criticism of modern art and literature, and the way the Russian leaders have handled the dispute with China. In a way it seemed to represent the right wing of the Communist Party, if there can be such a thing, as opposed to the left wing in Red China.

But it is more likely that Togliatti's document was indicative of a trend that has been growing in the last few years—the swerve away from unquestioned obedience to Moscow by Communist parties in other nations. Yugoslavia started it all and successfully survived Stalin's wrath until Khrushchev came to power and once more acknowledged that Tito was a Communist after all. Poland is constantly on the verge of more involvement with the West to Moscow's discomfiture. Rumania has gone even further and made trade agreements with the United States, France and England while the Kremlin has frowned. Even in Czechoslovakia, the most cowed of the Eastern European satellites, there have been some stirrings by student leaders against the power wielded over their economy by Russia.

Perhaps the major reason for all of this is that the Communist parties in other countries have become nationalistic Communist parties. It does not reduce their dedication to the triumph of communism in the world; but it may reduce their effectiveness in bringing communism to the rest of the world. In effect, the leaders in the various satellite countries, and in such a nation as Italy where the Communist Party has a considerable following, are saying that they are capable of determining just how communism should work within their own borders. They are all for the dictatorship of the proletariat but it must be a home-grown proletariat, not one of the Soviet Union.

Togliatti's letter goes even further. He wants "open" debates on Communist policies and a firm voice by delegates from other countries. And he also took the occasion to criticize Khrushchev not merely for what he might be doing outside of Russia but for what he was doing inside. Khrushchev "should concentrate on administering the Soviet Union and give up his ideological criticism of art, music, literature and science," wrote Togliatti tartly.

The demands for more liberalization of Communist policies is in part good news for the West if there is any chance for the evolution of communism. But there is also a danger here as long as Red China keeps up the pressure for a more stringent rule. Even if Khrushchev has firm control today, he will not live forever. His successor could be the result of a bitter struggle between the left and the right within Russia, and the left could win. A Russia once more in the control of a man like Stalin or with the ideology of Mao would fight to restore absolute authority over the satellites and the Communist parties in other nations. It would be bad news for them as well as for the free world which would once more have to tighten its defenses.

Looking Backward

Arsenal Seized in Indianapolis

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Sept. 1, 1864.

The telegraph has announced the seizure of a large lot of arms and ammunition at Indianapolis, belonging to the Democratic conspirators who are plotting the destruction of the Republic in the secret lodges of the so-called Sons of Liberty.

Only a short time since the Democratic Central Committee of that State published an address, the object of which was to incite an apprehension among their followers that the Administration is about to interfere with their right to vote, and recommending the formation of armed organizations to protect the freedom of elections and their rights within the State.

Gov. Morton has published a card, characterizing in proper terms this infamous attempt to excite civil war in the loyal States. In various portions of the Northern States similar attempts are being made by Democratic demagogues to light the fires of insurrection.

It is the "fire in the rear" they have long desired but hesitated to kindle. They would fain create a diversion in aid of their rebel friends, now sorely pressed by the armies of Sherman and Grant.

Clamoring upon the street corners for peace, they are secretly plotting to bring the horrors of civil war to Northern homes, since no intelligent man can doubt the consequences of filling the minds of ignorant men with all manner of fears, exciting their passions and prejudices against the civil authorities, and then placing arms in their hands.

25 YEARS AGO
Thursday, Sept. 7, 1939.

German soldiers were reported marching toward Warsaw and the Polish government announced the garrison defending the Danzig harbor had surrendered. The Poles suffered heavy losses when the Germans captured the city of Krakow in the southwestern corner of the country. Krakow was the ancient capital of Poland and also the home of Polish kings, and had extensive fortifications as a military district.

Officers for the Bear Creek Band Boosters Club were Miss Neva Stoehr, president; Mrs. Irvin Paul, vice president; Mrs. Frank Flanagan, secretary, and Miss Katherine Barnes, treasurer.

Louis Hanson, machinist at Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co., Kaukauna, was the winner of the August safety award at the plant.

ship for one of the cows at Oshkosh and senior and grand championships for a bull at Chilton.

10 YEARS AGO
Thursday, Sept. 9, 1954.

James McFadden and Richard Landreman, Kaukauna, were attending an institute on the new internal revenue code recently revised by the United States Congress. The sessions were at the University of Wisconsin, Madison.

Edward Polzin, Harvey Priebe, James Keating and Chet Meiers were on the planning committee for the National Guard Show to be sponsored by the Fox River Valley Red Arrow Club. The show, at the Outagamie Speedway, was to feature a sham battle demonstration by A and B companies of the 127th Infantry, 32nd Division, Appleton.

Mrs. Edward Witcher, retiring president of the Appleton Welcome Wagon Newcomers, was to introduce new president Mrs. George Krampien at a luncheon at Riverview Country Club. Other outgoing officers were Mrs. Alfred Johnson, Mrs. Davis Schroeder, Mrs. Ken Ligare, Mrs. William Smith, Mrs. Robert Brown and Mrs. Arthur Syska. The new board included Mrs. Allison Miller, Mrs. Howard Finigan, Mrs. Howard Whitehead, Mrs. Fred Heschmayer, Mrs. Arthur Lathrop and Mrs. Richard Platt.

Headline That Businessmen Support Johnson Misleading

Editor, Post-Crescent:

You are proving again that the communications and news media of this country are the welfare state's best friends—and the worst and meanest enemies that freedom-loving individuals of America could ever have. Your Sept. 4 front page article by Frank Cormier, datelined Washington (AP) is headlined "Business Leaders Endorse Johnson." If your readers never got any farther than the headline they would draw one conclusion—that industrial and business leaders of this country really prefer Johnson and his administration. And I dare say that scores of readers who read the entire article will conclude the same.

It sounds big and it sounds important—and if they can favor him, so can I.

But why don't you tell the real story? If you're going in for opinion making, why not play fair? Why don't you tell the history of the absolutely disgraceful performance of some of these business people who have been selecting our candidates according to how they can maneuver for gain—dollar gain—for themselves. These clever eastern financiers who collect such vast sums for the service of handling the federal funds that go into our outlandish foreign giveaway spree have cutely added some midwest and western cohorts now to make it look less like Wall Street control.

Those Who Give Service Important

From The Griffin Ga., Daily News

Have you ever thought of what would happen if garbage weren't collected?

Or if the drug stores weren't kept open on Sunday or in the evenings?

Or if an occasional filling station didn't stay open all night? Or proprietors of restaurants weren't willing to never go home? Or if buses didn't run at all hours of the night?

These are humble services performed by inconspicuous people. Very seldom is a bus driver or a filling station operator nominated for the presidency of the United States or named ambassador to Great Britain.

But the men who clean the streets and the women who clean the buildings while we sleep are just as vital a cog in the machinery of daily living as almost anyone else. Let them fail to show up and see who's missed most, they or the boss!

The point is that the person who does his job as well as he possibly can, is willing and, above all, dependable—this person is important. Important to himself, to his family and to society.

And don't forget it the next time some other pasture looks greener.

Five French oceanauts spent a month 36 feet below the surface of the Red Sea without resurfacing. They lived in a prefabricated underwater village.

with the activity of these king-makers expected they would come out for the liberal candidate, no matter which party was involved. These registered Republicans mentioned in Cormier's article have been the kind of Republicans that have, for several decades, been almost indistinguishable from Democrats in their ultra-liberal (yes, extreme) views. But you help to make it look like something good that they have expressed endorsement of Johnson.

Play fair, man. I dislike your paper enough already, without your parroting whatever the AP wires dash out under the guise of news, while any intelligent reader knows full well that it's part of a fiendish, dirty plan maneuvered by this crowd of king-makers (who were thwarted by the surprising grassroots revolt for Barry) and made a part of today's lazy editorial pattern of echoing the down-east dirt issued by news services.

If the story of the king-makers sounds quotable, as told, for example by Phyllis Schlafly in her "A Choice, Not An Echo," give your readers a treat on your editorial page. You will be using some of the same names that Cormier used.

Bayorgeon Likes Campaign Stories

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I would like to congratulate you and your newspaper on the fairness you have shown in informing the people of the positions of the political candidates in both parties.

Your coverage has been accurate, and I have personally used the Appleton Post-Crescent's editorial opinions and articles in your paper as basic thoughts for many speeches which I have given.

In reference to the article in the People's Forum, Aug. 26, my speech and remarks were based on the Appleton Post-Crescent of July 21, 1964, on the article which your paper had entitled "Goldwater Views From Books, Speeches."

I used this as my guide, and I think that everyone should not only read it but analyze it as he starts his campaign.

I am enclosing a copy of a letter which I have written to Mary Sumnicht, and if you think this is worthy of being published I would deeply appreciate seeing it in your newspaper.

Miss Mary Sumnicht
Secretary of Appleton Youth for Goldwater-Miller
Appleton, Wisconsin

In reading the Post-Crescent last evening under the People's Forum, I was elated and pleased to read your position paper on the remarks that I had made about Senator Goldwater.

The article was very well put together and your thoughts were sincerely expressed, such as mine were, and I want to compliment you on this article. If all people, both young and old, Republicans and Democrats, would take a deep interest in our government and try to understand it, learn more about it, and study the issues, I certainly feel that we would have not only more efficient government, but we would become a better nation.

Knowing how honest you were in making your observation and feeling the sincerity that came out of your words, I would like to tell you that I have based my opinions on Senator Goldwater from the Tuesday issue, July 21, 1964, Appleton Post-Crescent, which headlines read "Goldwater Views From Books, Speeches." So, although both of us followed different sources of information, we both gave our own sincere opinions.

Always continue to work and fight for what you think is right, and if this would become contagious, then you could be deeply happy in your heart for what you are doing for your country.

Wisconsin Report

Public Understanding Of Complexities Facing Legislature Needed

BY ALEXANDER GRANT

MADISON — Almost every citizen in Wisconsin could name at least one change in his life because of actions of the 1963 Legislature.

Yet aside from the school-boy knowledge that there are 100 assemblymen and 33 senators who meet in the statehouse, too many people have too little understanding (or regrettably, too little interest) in the "legislative process."

The current legislature has met a total of 144 days since it was organized in January, 1963. It has considered a total any fiscal effect, including appropriation and tax bills, are referred to this important committee. The work is so broad that it in turn has been organized into subcommittees to study in detail the effect of appropriation measures.

LEAST UNDERSTOOD

The party caucus is probably the least understood part of the process. Members of each party of each house meet frequently during the legislative session. The meetings are private. Decisions reached have no "official" status in law. Yet, understandably, they often have a profound influence on decision-making. For the caucus exists to remind legislators that their responsibilities are basically two-fold under our system: (1) to represent the interests of the people in the area from which they were elected and (2) to promote the causes and platform of the party to which they have declared allegiance.

Sometimes two purposes are in conflict for the individual. If his debate and voting record indicate consistent denial of the party's position, the leadership will remind him that as an elected Democrat or Republican he must assume some responsibility for his party's cause. On rare occasions a given bill may be so important to the party that the caucus will impose a "unit-rule," which essentially demands that all members vote the "party-way." This seemingly strong disciplinary action assures citizens who vote for a party-position as expressed in its platform that their vote will in fact be represented in the legislature.

Wisconsin's legislative process is not perfect. In my two terms in the Assembly I have been greatly impressed with the sincere diligence of many members representing both parties, yet equally dismayed by the apparently selfish and provincial attitude of many others. I have been greatly encouraged by recent efforts to improve the procedural aspects, yet equally discouraged by the continued efforts of some members to complicate and confuse to serve their own interests. Most of all, I am convinced that ultimate responsibility for a meaningful legislative process which will produce sound legislation rests squarely with the voting public.

Alexander Grant of Green Bay, one of the younger members among Republicans in the State Legislature, as guest columnist reviews the legislative machinery of Wisconsin from the perspective of a comparative newcomer.

Strictly Personal

Competition Essential For Free Enterprise

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

It is a fact that eludes most people who use the phrase, but when capitalism changed its name to "free enterprise" a few years ago, it pulled a semantic sneaker on the English language.

Free enterprise is really a combination of two phrases: free competition and private enterprise. Both of these are admirable systems, in many respects—but only when they work together. Many of the apostles of "free enterprise" seem to forget this important detail.

Where private enterprise will do a job well, none but a zealot would deny that it is preferable to (and safer than) government operation.

But, in order for enterprise to benefit the public, a genuine free competition must flourish. If business must be protected from government interference, it must also be protected from its own excesses.

While my conservative friends have been emitting cries of alarm about government encroachment on private industry, they are curiously silent about the diminishing area of competition in American life.

This is the era of giant mergers. The automobile industry, the textile industry, the hotel industry—these are only some of the areas in which competition has rapidly been shrinking. And few of my "free enterprise" friends seem concerned about this.

Since I believe that capitalism (I prefer the more honest and old-fashioned name) is, within limits, the least dangerous of economic systems, I am worried about this airy negligence.

I think that Adam Smith, the "father" of capitalism, would be worried, too. He never expected that some corporations would have greater resources than many states. He never anticipated an accumulation of industrial power in fewer and fewer hands. And he was a relentless foe of price-fixing, cartels, protective tariffs, and all the methods by which business seeks actually to restrict competition while pretending to favor it.

Eggheads like myself are constantly accused these days of opposing "free enterprise." I think the real difference between us and the jugheads is that we want a truly competitive system—and are willing to trust the government to keep a vigilant check on the freedom of opportunity for all, not just for a few who speak in the name of their own kind of freedom only.

War Records of Top Candidates Are Outlined

Humphrey Only
Military Service

BY GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP) — The question of the candidates' military records has slipped into the election campaign.

Republican vice-presidential candidate William E. Miller told a Chicago audience Sunday that he thought discussion of this sort of thing was "nit-picking."

Then he said he hadn't intended to mention that Hubert H. Humphrey, his Democratic vice-presidential opponent, had not served in World War II.

Here's a rundown on the candidates' records — as provided by the congressional offices of Sen. Barry Goldwater, Republican presidential candidate, Sen. Humphrey and Rep. Miller, and in the case of President Johnson, by the White House:

PRESIDENT JOHNSON

Joined the Navy Dec. 8, 1941, the day after Pearl Harbor, as a lieutenant commander, said to be the first congressman to enlist.

He took part in bomber missions in the South Pacific and was awarded the Silver Star. He returned to Washington in July 1942 when President Roosevelt decreed that members of Congress could not serve in the armed forces.

SEN. GOLDWATER

He became a second lieutenant in the infantry Reserve in 1930, assigned to the 25th Infantry. He was ordered to active duty Aug. 1, 1941, and assigned to the Air Corps at Luke Field, Ariz.

In May 1942, he was rated as a service pilot and was director of ground training and gunnery at the Air Force's advanced flying school. In May 1943, he transferred to the Second Flying Group and was operations officer of the 27th Flying Squadron. Duties included ferrying of aircraft in the United States and overseas.

He took part in the first and only flight of P47s across the North Atlantic in August 1943. He served as chief pilot, Air Transport Command, in the Azores, Casablanca, and India.

In October 1944, he transferred to the 402nd SFG base unit at Glendale, Calif., and was assistant director of gunnery operations. He also was in charge of organization training in combat operations.

Goldwater was relieved from active duty Nov. 22, 1945. He currently is a major general in the Air Force Reserve. His decorations include China defense with battle star and the Air Medal.

REP. MILLER

Miller was inducted into the Army as a private July 1, 1942. He took his basic training at Ft. Meade, and then was assigned to military intelligence. Details of this service were not available.

In January 1945, Miller was selected for officers candidate school of the judge advocate general's office at Ann Arbor, Mich.

He graduated in May 1945, and was commissioned a first lieutenant and assigned to the Army's war criminals branch in Washington.

In August 1945, he was named assistant prosecutor to the late Justice Robert A. Jackson. The biography says "in this post he played a major role in the prosecution of the Nazi war criminals during the trials at Nuremberg, Germany."

In March 1946 he resumed private law practice.

SEN. HUMPHREY

In 1941 he served with the War Production Administration, as supervisor of teaching for the organization's workers education service. In 1942 he became Minnesota state director of war production training, and in 1943 was assistant director of the War Manpower Commission.

In 1943 he went to MacAlester College in St. Paul, Minn., as an instructor for the Air Force's Reserve Officers Training Corps. As such he was classified in the draft as 2A, which meant he was a civilian in an essential job.

During 1943-1944, his office said, Humphrey tried at least 20 times to enlist in the Navy, but was turned down because of color blindness and because he had a double hernia.

In July 1944, he was reclassified 1A and was called up the next month, but his induction was deferred because of a new regulation exempting men over 30 with children. He then was 33 and the father of three and still had the double hernia.

In December 1944, heavy draft calls were started again, and Humphrey reported for induction Feb. 12, 1945. He again was turned down for physical reasons.

NFO President Asks For Truce in Violence

terminated manner to price their products at the market place." The two NFO members were killed Wednesday when a cattle truck lurched forward as hundreds of angry demonstrators attempted to block the entry to yards of the Equity Cooperative Livestock Sales Association. Killed were Howard Falk, 64, of rural Bonduel and Melvin L. Cummings, 43, of rural Antigo. The truck was driven by Ivan Mueller, 40, of Cecil, an independent trucker who hauls livestock for farmers under contract. Authorities said he held a pistol in his hand as officers pulled him through the angry crowd.

Mueller was charged with homicide by reckless conduct, a charge carrying a maximum penalty of a fine up to $2,500 and up to five years in jail or both. He did not appear in court and was held in the Shawano County Jail under extra police precautions.

Threats Reported
"We've got to get this man out of here now or they'll kill him," a deputy was overheard to say as Mueller was taken to a police car.

Roger Robson, Equity manager, said that after the accident the crowd surged after the truck shouting "Lynch him! Kill him! Let's string him up." The deaths climaxed a series of violent actions in Wisconsin since the NFO withholding campaign was launched Aug. 19 in 23 states.

Incidents have included dynamite, gun fire and arrests in other demonstrations.

Demands by NFO

The NFO seeks higher prices for farmers through marketing contracts with livestock buyers and meat processors. It wants a basic price for farmers of $32.45 per hundredweight on cattle, $22.75 a hundred on hogs and $29.45 a hundred on sheep. The prices are well below current levels. Choice steers sold at $24 to $26 a hundred in Chicago on the day the holding action was launched. They were quoted at about $28 Thursday.

Robson said the holding action had cut Equity receipts by about 30 per cent.

Demonstrators began gathering at Equity about 10:30 a.m. Wednesday and turned back a truckload of hogs before Mueller arrived. The truck was stopped by pickets and deputies attempted to clear a path.

Yards to Close
The demonstrators began to rock the truck when it gave a lurch and started up. Falk and Cummings apparently were hemmed in by the crowd and unable to get out of the way.

Reynolds said that in other moves he had received the agreement of Equity to close its Bonduel yards today. He also said he had conferred with the attorney general's office, the Wisconsin Employment Relations Board and the State Department of Agriculture and they had agreed to offer any assistance possible.

Reynolds also said that representatives of the attorney general's office, the State Traffic Patrol and the employment relations board would be present as observers at major livestock sales in the state today.

And his office, the governor said, would remain open to telephone calls 24 hours a day and asked law enforcement officers to report immediately "any acts of violence or threats of violence growing out of the current livestock dispute."

Reynolds said that officers of the Wisconsin Sheriff's Association and the District Attorney's Association had been asked to join in Friday's meeting, set for 10 a.m.

Reynolds said the deaths "were a tragic result of the unrest that affects many of our farmers in Wisconsin today."

Olson Criticizes Governor

Republican Lt. Gov. Jack Olson issued a statement at Madison saying the deaths might possibly have been averted if Reynolds, a Democrat, "had taken some proper measures to cope with the situation." He continued:

"Just less than two weeks ago Gov. Reynolds chose to play politics with the tensions building up in the state. After falsely claiming that I had called up the National Guard, the governor issued a statement saying such action was 'silly, unwarranted and unjustified.' The governor said there is no evidence that would warrant such a radical action."

"Evidence now exists and it cries out loudly for action... If local law enforcement authorities are unable to handle such incidents the responsibility lies solely with the governor."

Olson said "this is not a matter of politics" and added that as lieutenant governor "I stand ready to assist Gov. Reynolds in whatever way possible..."

damage and burning in the city of Da Nang, scene of Buddhist-Catholic clashes two weeks ago, which carried the caption "Buddhists flee after razing Catholic sector of Da Nang."

Not Buddhist Issue

"Since the distant past until the arrival of Americans here, Buddhists have never destroyed or burned any houses," the paper said. "If one wishes to learn the deep reasons for the anger of the people of Da Nang, one must find them in the Aug. 16th constitution which certainly was not drafted by Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh."

The constitution which gave Khanh sweeping powers was rescinded in response to violent rioting and Buddhist demonstrations.

"The immediate reason for anger in Da Nang was the shots fired in the air by Americans," Hai Trieu Am said.

American soldiers fired warning shots in the air to disperse Buddhist demonstrators who tried to break into the U.S. Army compound there. The mob fled toward a Catholic sector; a grenade was thrown, apparently from the Catholic area, and later the Buddhist mob burned out the Catholic area.

Employers in State To be Sent Lists of Physicians in County

MADISON (AP) — The State Medical Society of Wisconsin reported today it is sending to more than 80,000 employers lists of physicians in each county, giving workers choice of physician for use in industrial illness or injury.

The society said the listing will reach more than 90 per cent of one million workers included under the Workmen's Compensation Law.

The act requires employers to furnish "reasonable choice" of physician to covered employees.
